South's Governors Plan Rail Freight Rate Fight

ATLANTA MEETING TO MAP PROGRAM SET FOR MAY 10

Bibb Graves, of Alabama, Conference Chairman, Calls Session Here To Decide on Procedure for Vigorous Lawsuit.

SECTIONAL RATES HOTLY ATTACKED

Rights of Consumers To Open Competitive Markets Will Be Basis of Arguments in the Case.

By GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—Termination to fight for "parity" freight rates to encourage southern industry was decided upon today at a conference of governors of southeastern states, called by Governor Rivers, of Georgia.

PHYSICIAN ATTENDS GOVERNOR RIVERS

Governor Rivers, who suffered an attack of renal colic in Washington yesterday immediately before opening of a conference on southeastern freight rates called by himself, last night was reported resting at his hotel in preparation for further conferences with federal officials today.

He was under a physician's care and it was understood his condition was considerably improved, with heart and pulse both normal.

Governor Rivers probably will remain in the capital until tomorrow or Friday.

Thames, 28 Feet Higher Than Normal, Kills 5 and Costs 6,000 Their Homes at London, Ont.

By the Associated Press.
Thousands fled their homes, rich and poor alike, as the bloated and muddy Ohio rolled downstream last night with the debris-laden burden of its tributaries.

The year's second flood emergency led President Roosevelt to recall a special government Red Cross committee to supervise relief work among the refugees.

Across the border in Canada, the city of London, Ontario, flourished under the worst flood in its history. Five deaths were counted and at least 6,000 persons were homeless as the Thames river, 28 feet above normal, washed through the city's streets and spread over a large section of southwestern Ontario.

6 TOWNS ABLAZE AS REBELS BLAST BILBAO DEFENSES

President Aguirre Grabs a Rifle and Rushes to Front To Save Capital; 80,000 Reserves Called.

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Frontier, April 27.—(UP)—Rebel war planes allegedly piloted by Germans today killed more than 800 persons and completely destroyed the town of Guernica, cradle of Basque liberty, according to frontier dispatches.

DURANGO IS PASSED, SAYS REBEL REPORT

HENDAYE, Franco-Spanish Border, April 27.—(AP)—Insurgent officials at Irun reported tonight that General Mola's insurgent forces driving toward Bilbao had swept through Durango, 16 miles southeast of the Basque capital, and continued several miles along the broad highway toward that city.

air fleet as they fled in panic along clogged highways toward Bilbao, 17 miles southwest.

Six Towns in Flames

Six towns within the 75-mile, crescent-shaped line of the Rebel attack on Bilbao, proud capital of Vizcaya province, were in flames tonight—Guernica, Eibar, Bolivar, Aradegui, Guernicaiz and Marquina.

The Basque defenders, reduced to about 15,000, were in full retreat along the entire front.

Frontier observers said that Bilbao will fall unless 80,000 loyalist militiamen, hastily mobilized by young Jose Antonio de Aguirre—the Basque president and war minister—achieve "almost unbelievable" victories.

Shapless Heaps

Machine guns mowed down Guernica's fleeing population—men, women and children—like wheat before a scythe, piling them in shapeless heaps.

Some were fleeing toward Bilbao. Others sought refuge in the hills.

Hundreds who refused to leave their homes and venture into the hail of bullets were trapped and burned to death.

Aguirre seized a rifle and rushed to the front lines outside Bilbao in an attempt to rally his panicky troops. He said German aviators were responsible for the horror of Guernica.

"German aviators in the Fascist service have bombed Guernica, setting fire to the historic Casa de Juntas which has been a sanctuary and symbol for centuries of Guernica."

A 229-to-112 ballot sent a repeal measure to the senate, where the provision permitting publication of the salaries was inserted originally in a tax bill.

In recent years the list of corporation salaries has been submitted to congress by the treasury and turned over to the house ways and means committee.

Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, of the ways and means committee, told the house the lists have served no good purpose. He said they had not helped the treasury obtain a single additional dollar of revenue.

The ranking committee Republican, Representative Treadway, of Massachusetts, asserted that blackmailers, thugs and thieves could buy the lists for a few dollars from "some lady down town."

SOCIAL MACHINERY WILL BE DISCUSSED AT SAVANNAH MEET

State Program To Be Major Topic for Discussion at Conference.

SAVANNAH, Ga., April 27.—Georgia's new machinery for social welfare and the needs which it must be geared to meet will be the theme of the annual sessions of the Georgia Conference on Social Work, to open here tomorrow night. The meetings will continue through Saturday.

Men and women from every section of the state are expected to gather to hear discussions of Georgia's social needs, with particular emphasis upon the newly enacted state program.

Lamar Murdaugh, head of the State Department of Public Welfare, and Mrs. Helen Coxson, representative of Long county and a leader in the enactment of the new laws, will take part in this discussion, as will Walter Harrison, chairman of the senate public welfare committee.

Other speakers during the four-day session include Dayton Frost, regional director of public assistance of the Federal Social Security Board; Mrs. Ella W. Reed, public welfare consultant, American Public Welfare Association; George L. Goode, southern representative, American Federation of Labor; Miss Beatrice McConnell, director of the industrial division, Federal Children's Bureau, and a number of others.

Dr. Comer M. Woodward, president of the conference, will preside over the general sessions. In addition, there will be section meetings for the discussion of specialized phases of welfare work.

The Probation Officers' Association will hold a joint session with the conference to hear an address by James V. Bennett, director of the Bureau of Prisons of the Department of Justice.

Farmers Shown How Strip Planting Cures Erosion

The hundreds of northwest Georgia farmers and businessmen who yesterday attended the field day rally at Rome were sent out in small groups, one of which is shown above, to inspect experiments in the 32,000-acre soil demonstration area of Floyd and Polk counties. Here a group is seen looking over a small scale strip planting experiment. Excess water drains off into the covered ditch in the background, and there collects in barrels, giving a clear demonstration of its effect on different planted plots.

2 WOMEN HITCHHIKERS ARE SOUGHT IN SLAYING

PENSACOLA, Fla., April 27.—(UP)—Police tonight sought two women hitchhikers for questioning after a gun fight here last night in which one man was killed and another critically wounded.

Police believed the hitchhikers witnessed the shooting. The two women, dressed in men's clothing, were said to have fled the scene of the affray.

Garney Blackman, 22, was killed and W. T. Sapp, 34, was in a critical condition from a bullet wound in the stomach after the shooting, which occurred in Sapp's backyard after the two returned from a business trip to Tallahassee. Police said the two women had been picked up by Blackman and Sapp on the Tallahassee highway.

TOLL OF SOIL WASTE COUNTED IN BILLIONS

H. H. Bennett, Henry L. Brown Tell Georgia Farmers of Erosion Cures.

ROME, Ga., April 27.—(AP)—H. H. Bennett, chief of the Federal Soil Conservation Service, today said the "direct cost of soil erosion to the farmers of the United States is not less than $400,000,000 every year."

Bennett spoke at a barbecue at Lindale, part of a field day program at the Soil Conservation Service demonstration area near here. The program also included a tour of the demonstration area under the direction of W. H. Howell, project manager.

Estimating soil erosion has cost the United States $20,000,000,000 in the last 50 years, the soil conservation chief said. "The cost in the next 50 years, unless we take immediate, decisive steps, will probably exceed $20,000,000,000 and it may even go beyond $30,000,000,000."

"I am firmly convinced that the United States has been wasting its agricultural domain at a rate faster than any other nation or race, civilized or barbaric, in human history," Bennett said.

"I am thoroughly convinced that if we continue to farm our lands as we have in the past, we are headed for national disaster," Bennett said. "It will probably take 20 years, possibly 30, to establish a sound program over the vast area of the nation that so desperately needs erosion control."

Farms Going By. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Harry L. Brown, another speaker on the program, said "all too many Georgia farmers have been sitting on their porches watching their own and their neighbors' farms go by."

Brown referred to the farms "going by" in the form of rich soil eroded by rain, wind and other elements. "Fortunately," he continued, "a consciousness of what this great loss means is making a healthy growth in the minds of most of our farm people . . . affording a wonderful opportunity to build a land-use program that will save agriculture and the nation, today and tomorrow."

THREE JOBS OPEN IN CIVIL SERVICE

Open Examinations To Fill Vacancies Announced by Commission.

Open competitive examinations to fill four positions in the government service were announced yesterday by the United States Civil Service Commission through offices here of the fifth civil service district.

The positions were described as follows:

Examiner, estate tax (internal revenue agent), $3,200 a year, Bureau of Internal Revenue.

Senior superintendent marine engineer, $4,600 a year, Quartermaster Corps, War Department.

Marketing specialist (Indian arts and crafts), $3,200 a year, and production advisor (Indian arts and crafts), $2,600 a year, Indian Arts and Crafts Board, Department of the Interior.

Information concerning the examinations may be obtained on application at the fifth district offices in the new postoffice building.

RESCUERS ARE FORCED TO SAVE OWN PARTY

ORANGE, Va., April 27.—(AP)—Crews dragging the Robinson river for clues to the fate of four young Culpeper people, believed drowned when their car ran off a rain-damaged bridge, were forced to rescue members of their own party today as the search continued without success.

An improvised raft of oil drums tossed Sergeant Wayne Carr, of the state police, and two firemen into the swift current late this afternoon, but the trio was pulled to safety before being swept downstream.

Occupants of the car were listed as Joseph Cray, 26; James I. Hogan, 26; Miss Betty Morrison, 22, and Miss Laura Lindsay, 24.

COMMUNITY CENTER TO BE GIVEN DEKALB

D. B. Lasseter, state director of the National Youth Administration, will be principal speaker at exercises Saturday dedicating a new combination gymnasium, community house and vocational workshop at Southwest DeKalb High school in Panthersville.

Lasseter will be accompanied by the United States illuminating company and the Mount Morris Electric Light Company, for whom Hughes secured an injunction to prevent Mayor Grant, of New York city, from forcing the companies to put their electric wires underground.

"An invasion of the rights of property" was what Hughes termed Mayor Grant's attempted action, which brought a scathing rebuke from the presiding judge. Another client was the New York, Westchester & Boston railway, suspected of being the secret subsidiary of the Moravia controller, New Haven road, which desired terminal facilities in Manhattan. Hughes got the terminal.

Hughes worked as hard for his corporate clients as he did on his books at Brown and Columbia, with the result that he approached a physical breakdown. His doctors advised him to give up the practice of law, and he turned to a professorship at Cornell. Two years later, however, the financial crash of 1893 proved a heyday for the legal profession and brought him hustling back to New York. For the next 12 years he concentrated on making money and building up a reputation as an able and hard-working attorney. Then in 1905 the New York legislature created the Stevens commission to investigate gas rates, and Henry W. Taft, brother of the late President was named to the commission. He was one of the few members of the commission who were not lawyers.

The veteran is the grandfather of Judge I. C. Bryant, of the county health department.

David Lawrence Answers Attack on 'Nine Old Men'

"The Nine Old Men" "Nine Honest Men" By DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN. By DAVID LAWRENCE.

CHAPTER IV. Mr. Roosevelt's attitude can only mean a consolidation of all three branches of our government under one head. Wrote Thomas Jefferson: "A single consolidated government would become the most corrupt government on earth."

What has destroyed the liberty and the rights of man in every government which has existed under the sun? The generalizing and concentrating all cares into one body.

"It is not by the consolidation or concentration of powers, but by their distribution that good government is effected."

It may be that a highly centralized government is what the American people want at the moment. It may be that they prefer the will of one man to the judgment of nine or 15 justices or even 531 members of congress. But if consolidation of the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government does come, it will not remain long.

The people will insist on making such a government more directly responsive to popular will. They will not permit a fixed tenure for presidents of four or even six years nor will they wish a fixed tenure for members of the house and senate. They will seek to protect themselves in the only way that true democracies have been able to assure themselves against tyranny—they will want a system of recall written into the constitution so that on specific issues the people can vote.

Change in the number of the supreme court justices there could be a referendum of the people. Democracy is never in danger when additional methods of letting the people decide issues are provided. Democracy is always in danger when reason is subverted by emotion and the people are misled by a fundamental question before the electorate.

If the age of 70 or 75 is to be limit of federal judges, a constitutional amendment requiring a compulsory retirement will, if adopted, attain all proper objectives of real judicial reform.

In the long run the American people will not permit their constitutional system to be overthrown or undermined by specious attacks.

The supreme court of the United States is made up of men who have resigned themselves to a life of judicial piety.

There is not to forward the fortunes of any party. There is not to cherish any ambition for personal glory in elective office.

There is only to preserve the immutable principles of American justice as it has come to them through centuries upon centuries of ethics and morality.

We have set up a court of nine men not to decide cases of their own initiative but to review the judgment in federal district courts and circuit courts of appeals, and in a series of state tribunals and in state courts of last resort, to review the reasoning and determinations made by judges in those courts who have examined in the first instance the law and the facts.

To say that this tribunal of nine men shall not henceforth declare the supreme law of the land is to say in effect that we must change our form of government and substitute the rule of passion for the rule of reason.

The constitution is an agreement between the people and their agents. Let the agreement be changed in specific particulars only when specific issues, unencumbered by other circumstances of politics, are placed before the people.

But meanwhile let it be proclaimed that when an act is declared invalid it is so declared because the people in the original agreement set forth the rights and grants of power they had delegated and that if by the congress or by the President these provisions are transgressed the supreme court of the United States alone shall have the right to continue to express the people's veto.

For 150 years under a written constitution the American people have worshipped, at the altar of sportsmanship.

They have accepted the doctrine that it is fundamentally unethical to refuse to respect an adverse decision.

Traditionally the spirit of America has been that if you do not like the rules of the game, change the rules—but don't soak the umpire!

For generations the supreme court of the United States has been the umpire in deciding what are and what are not valid acts of the executive and legislative branches of the government within the meaning of the supreme law of the land—the constitution.

There has been a recognized and well-defined difference between reforming judicial procedure and tampering with the personnel or judgment of the supreme court itself.

In the few instances where attempts have been made to control the supreme court of the United States for political purposes, an outraged public opinion has risen in protest.

President Roosevelt's message to congress, considered purely as a piece of judicial reform, has so many obvious inconsistencies in it and makes so many statements that will be disputed by citizens who are familiar with the actual truth about the alleged congestion in the work of the supreme court that it would be most unfortunate if the American people came to the conclusion that the message itself was merely a pretext or excuse to cover up a direct attempt to punish the present members of the supreme court for their meritorious in declaring several New Deal laws unconstitutional.

Mr. Roosevelt's hostility to the present membership of the supreme court became known when on the day after the NRA was declared unconstitutional by a unanimous vote of all nine justices liberal and conservative alike, he exhibited a surprising pique. This it was insisted by his supporters during the recent campaign, was abandoned because public opinion voiced nation-wide disapproval of millions of conservatives in the Democratic party voted for Mr. Roosevelt on that supposition.

Connubial State Of Pair Proved By Fingerprints

Fingerprints were an aid yesterday in helping this couple remember they were husband and wife.

Listed as Etomia Maddox and Joyce Bridges, they were on trial in Fulton criminal court for alleged lottery activity. Etomia testified he had picked Joyce up on the street and was taking her home, that he had never before laid eyes on her.

Joyce swore Etomia told her, Solicitor John McClelland said his case rapidly going up in smoke. He sent upstairs for fingerprint records of the two. On the card were the notations—

Etomia Maddox is the wife of Joyce Jesse M. Wood scolded severely, threatened to bind her over to the grand jury for perjury, ended in sentencing Maddox to two counts and fining Joyce $100 and suspending a 12-month sentence.

REGISTRATION BEGUN FOR EMORY SCHOOL

Registration for Emory University's fourth annual Progressive Demonstration school, which will be held from June 24 through July 21, began yesterday.

Organized to give southern grad school teachers an opportunity to see modern educational methods in actual practice, the project has attracted wide attention among both teachers and parents.

Registration in the school is limited to 30 children in each of nine groups, corresponding to the pre-school year and the first eight grades. Twenty-five teachers are admitted as observers in each group. The children attend the school from 9 to 11 o'clock each morning, while the observers remain for two additional hours of conference and discussion with the demonstration teacher.

Chief Justice Russell Reaches 76, Sees No Reason for Retirement

Father of Junior Senator in Good Health; Appetite Is 'Fine.'

WINDER, Ga., April 27.—(P)—Richard B. Russell Sr., chief justice of Georgia and father of United States Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., reached his 76th birthday today and observed:

"I think a man is better informed when he has passed 70."

"Some of our greatest court decisions were handed down by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes when he was past 90."

He said he saw no reason for a supreme court justice to retire at 70.

Judge Russell has been in public life in Georgia for more than 50 years, and a member of the state supreme court since 1923.

He announced his intention of seeking re-election in 1940.

He observed his birthday today in good health. He spent the day quietly at his home here, reading and receiving congratulations from friends.

Commenting on the new state law which permits justices of the supreme court to retire at the age of 70 on two-thirds pay, provided they have served 10 years on either the court of appeals or supreme court, Justice Russell said:

"I'm not one of the class seeking a pension."

The chief justice's appetite is "fine" and he sleeps "like a baby." Commenting on his appetite, he said, however:

"I have always believed a man should eat to live and not live to eat."

Before his election to the supreme court, Chief Justice Russell was a member of the Georgia court of appeals.

SAYLOR CONVICTED OF KILLING BROTHER

Former Pugilist Again Given Life Sentence in Slaying in Bartow.

CARTERSVILLE, Ga., April 27. Preston Saylor, former pugilist, this afternoon was found guilty a second time in the slaying of his brother, Harry Saylor, and sentenced by Judge Claude Pittman, of Bartow superior court, to life imprisonment.

The jury deliberated 45 minutes.

Harry Saylor was slain November 5, 1935, at the ancestral Saylor home, castle-like Barnsley Gardens, Adairville. His brother, tried for the murder, was convicted and sentenced to life imprisonment, but won a new trial.

Saylor's statement to the jury, lasting more than two hours, offered the highlight of the second day's session of the trial, which began Monday afternoon. He declared his mother had "lied" about him while on the witness stand, and also said his brother and his mother had purchased his pistols which they planned to use to "murder me and get control of the property."

Saylor also denounced all who had testified against him and told the jury "this whole thing is a deliberate plot to railroad me to the electric chair."

ROOSEVELT UNCERTAIN OVER WAGE, HOUR BILL

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(P)—President Roosevelt expressed uncertainty today over whether wage and hour legislation would be pressed at this session of congress.

Asked at a press conference if a bill on this subject would be enacted before adjournment, the President said he did not know at this time.

MANY TO PROTEST RHODES REZONING

Meeting Set Before Subcommittee of Commission This Afternoon.

Representatives of the state and of women's patriotic organizations are scheduled to protest rezoning for business property surrounding Rhodes Memorial Hall when the zoning subcommittee of the city planning commission meets at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the city hall.

Secretary of State John B. Wilson, Mrs. J. R. Lamar, former national president of the Colonial Dames; Mrs. Frank A. Dennis, president of the Georgia United Daughters of the Confederacy, and Mrs. Walter D. Lamar, of Macon, the U. D. C. historian, are expected to appear against the rezoning petition of executors of the Rhodes estate who seek to rezone Rhodes property on each side of Rhodes Memorial Hall in order to erect Rhodes Center, a proposed commercial project of business houses.

Patriotic organization representatives have asserted business surrounding the hall, which is the home of Georgia's archives, will destroy the peace and beauty of the hall.

TALMADGE SCORES RIVERS PROGRAM

Former Governor Attacks
Tax Plans in 'Statesman' Article.

Former governor Talmadge said yesterday the $44,000,000-a-year appropriations bill passed by the last general assembly would cost Georgians $84.87 a minute.

Talmadge, who is opposed to state constitutional amendments to be voted on June 8 and which are supported by his pro-Rooseveltian successor, made the criticisms in an article prepared for publication in his weekly paper, the Statesman.

Of a recent decision to charge employees for parking space for their cars back of the state capitol, the former governor said, "this has never happened before, and is little, mean, petty thievery."

Talmadge said, "I notice where I have been accused of starting a lawsuit to test the legality of the election to be held on June 8 for the adoption of the amendments, I have found it is the best policy not to deny anything you are accused of. My accusers certainly properly interpreted my desires and wishes in the matter—and by the way, they are even taxing fortune tellers."

FINAL RITES TODAY FOR H. E. FELLOWS

Decatur Lumberman's Funeral To Be Held at Home
This Morning.

Final rites for Harvey Eugene Fellows, prominent Georgia lumberman, who died Monday, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the residence, 223 Kings Highway, Decatur.

The Revs. A. B. Couch and A. J. Moncrief will officiate, and burial will be in Decatur cemetery, under direction of A. S. Turner.

Mr. Fellows, who was associated with the Decatur Lumber & Supply Company, was a native of Athens. He was formerly connected with the Moss Manufacturing Company, of Athens, and was also affiliated for 15 years with the LaGrange Lumber Company.

CLEAR, WARM WEATHER IS FORECAST FOR CITY

Clear and somewhat warmer weather last night was in prospect for today as weather forecasters predicted a clearing of the atmosphere of dust brought Monday from the southwest.

Atlanta yesterday was virtually unaffected by the dust, following a light storm Monday afternoon. Other points in Georgia, including Columbus and Albany, also reported dust storms of sufficient intensity to cause sneezing and coughing.

Temperature today was not expected to go below 52 degrees. Yesterday's high mark was 68 degrees and low 50.

LICENSE REVISIONS BY CITY DEFERRED PENDING ELECTION

Tax Committee Indicates Contemplated Increases,
Then Delays Action.

Revision of city license laws will await results of the June 8 state election, it was decided yesterday by members of council's tax committee.

After having spent more than an hour perusing various suggested changes, the committee rescinded every action it had made and voted to defer action on a projected revision of license schedules until after the general state election at which many of the Rivers' new deal measures will face the electorate.

Although it was at first suggested that the entire license list be revised, committee members took the position that the act of the assembly was designed to permit adjustment of license fees which are payable out of line and decided to proceed on that theory. It, therefore, was indicated that the temper of the committee will be to recommend a minimum number of changes, unless it changes its attitude after the election.

Probable Raises.

Beer and wine dealers will get substantial increases, if indications at yesterday's meeting are indicative of future actions. It also was indicated that utilities will pay the maximum allowed under the new enabling act, $1,000. Automobile assembling and manufacturing plants also will get increases amounting to approximately 100 per cent over the present schedule. Dealers and purchasers of accounts, wages, salaries, etc., will be increased from $300 a year to $600 if tentative plans of the committee materialize.

The committee also voted to place all hospitals in Atlanta on a 50 per cent assessment basis. The action followed a petition by Crawford Long hospital to be placed on the same basis as Georgia Baptist, St. Joseph's and others, 25 per cent valuation. In turning down the Long petition, the committee decided that all would be assessed at 50 per cent. License fee at the municipal market was raised from $300 to $1,000 over the protest of Councilman J. Frank Beck.

Shrine Mosque Taxes.

Litigation over the city's contention that it has a right to collect 1935 and 1936 taxes on the Shrine mosque was indicated when the matter was referred to Joe C. Little, senior tax assessor, for investigation.

The matter was brought to the attention of the committee through a letter filed by City Attorney Jack C. Savage. Atlanta contends it reserved the right to collect all taxes on the structure when it took the mosque and the Fox theater over in 1935 for use as an auditorium. It still retains about $4,000 of mosque funds. It was understood yesterday that Mosque, Inc., is prepared to pay the approximately $8,000 city tax for 1935 if the city will waive 1936 collections.

Sabers Presented to Russell High ROTC Officers

Officials of the East Point and College Park American Legion posts and of the East Point Masonic lodge presented commissioned officers of the Russell High school R. O. T. C. unit with sabers yesterday. Participating in the ceremonies are, left to right, W. S. Northcutt, of the College Park Legion Post; R. J. Finley, worshipful master of the East Point Masonic lodge; J. H. Christian, past master of the Masonic lodge; Ed L. Humphries, of the East Point Legion; Preston Summers, commander of the East Point Post. Among officers of the unit receiving sabers are Cadet Colonel Clyde London, Captain Sam Plemons, Captain Frank Plemons, Captain D. C. Harrison and Lieutenant H. C. Emory.

$6,375,000 IS PRICE PAID FOR RAIL NET

4 Million in Cash Buys Control of 3 Billion in Properties.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—For a purchase price of $6,375,000, Robert R. Young, Frank F. Kolbe and Allan P. Kirby have acquired the key securities controlling the $3,000,000,000 Van Sweringen railroad, it was disclosed tonight.

Young issued a printed statement at his Park Avenue apartment which said: "The price which the purchasing group agreed to pay was $6,375,000, payable $4,000,000 in cash and the balance in a two-year note bearing interest at 2 1/2 per cent, due May 4, 1939. . . . This was the first disclosure of the amount involved in the transaction announced yesterday whereby the three comparatively young and little known financiers acquired Mid-America Corporation from a charitable foundation formed a month ago by George A. Ball, Munich (Ind.) jar manufacturer.

This was a little less than most Wall Street guesses, which had been around $8,000,000. Ball bought the securities at a public auction two years ago, the price paid was $3,121,000, so the sale price represents a profit of more than 100 per cent. The purchase, it was explained, consists of bonds, preferred and common stock of Alleghany Corporation, chief holding company in the Van Sweringen setup, "and miscellaneous accounts receivable, notes receivable, and securities related to the Cleveland real estate properties (or the late Van Sweringen brothers)."

Husband Got Tired Of Wife's Relatives

VINCENNES, Ind., April 27.—(AP)—Leo McCord's good nature was an asset when he was haled into court here for slapping his wife.

"Your honor, her folks moved in on me for a week's visit and stayed the whole winter," McCord told Judge W. F. Calverly, "and I got tired of it. She defended them and I told her to hush or I'd slap her. She didn't hush."

Ralph Lane, McCord's employer, told the court McCord was "too good natured for his own good." Judge Calverly released him.

PARKERS ACCUSED IN JURY TAMPERING

Counsel Contends It Is an Effort To Prejudice Panel.

NEWARK, N. J., April 27.—(AP) An accusation by the government prosecutor that Ellis H. Parker and his son "knew all about" an alleged attempt to tamper with prospective jurors for their conspiracy trial in the Wendell abduction case added a new sensation today to this strange aftermath of the Lindbergh kidnapping.

Counsel for the Burlington county detective chief and his son, Ellis Jr., quickly countered the charge with an assertion it was "a scheme to prejudice the jury against us." A federal grand jury began an immediate investigation and United States Attorney Quinn announced he would recommend it indict two men.

The charges enlivened what was to have been the opening day of the federal court trial of the Parkers and three other men on charges of conspiracy in the kidnapping and torture of Paul H. Wendell, who said they forced him to confess falsely that he kidnapped the Lindbergh baby.

Quinn accused the Parkers after a member of the jury panel testified he was approached by a man who told him "it would be easy to make some change" on this jury.

"Five or ten grand would be nothing," the witness, Michael J. Blessington, quoted the man as saying. He named Peter J. Dodd, West Orange bartender, as the man who made the remark to him yesterday and testified also that Peter F. De Angelo, a prospective juror, spoke to him similarly.

Both men were called into court and both flatly denied they had such conversations. Red spiders on elm trees may be controlled by dusting foliage with conditioned super-fine (303 mesh) dusting sulphur. About 1 1/4 pounds are needed for a small elm.

NEW ARMY SABERS PRESENTED R.O.T.C.

Legion Posts, Masonic Lodge and Hemperley Give Russell High Swords.

Commissioned officers of the Russell High R. O. T. C. unit were recipients of six new army sabers yesterday, donated by the Lyle Brewster Post of the American Legion of College Park, the East Point Post No. 5 of the American Legion, the East Point Masonic Lodge No. 288, and by Carlos Hemperley.

The East Point Legion post and the Masonic lodge donated two each and the other two donors each gave one.

R. J. Finley, worshipful master of the Masonic lodge and auditor of the Constitution, presented the sabers for his group; Dr. Preston Summers, commander of the East Point post, presented the sabers for that group; Stokeley Northcutt made the presentation for the College Park post.

Clyde London, cadet colonel, and Major Charles T. Senay, professor of military science and tactics for Fulton county schools, accepted the sabers for the school. The sabers, regulation army equipment, will be used in drills by the regiment.

Officers of the Russell High unit are Cadet Colonel Clyde London, Captain Sam Plemons, Captain Frank Clemons, Captain D. C. Harrison and Lieutenant H. C. Emory.

The presentations were made during the weekly parade and review period at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

AUTO SALESMAN IS HURT IN CRASH

Jack Porter Injured; Driver of Other Car Faces Charges.

Jack Porter, 39, used car salesman of 799 Argonne avenue, suffered painful injuries of the head and body when the car he was driving and a machine said to be driven by James P. Speer, 24, of 244 Belmont drive, collided at Peachtree and Fifth streets at about 9 o'clock last night.

Witnesses told Police Officers John Thrasher and C. T. Sweetman, who investigated the crash, that Porter was headed east on Fifth street and was half way across the street when Speer's car, going north on Peachtree, struck him.

Porter was thrown from the car, police said, and was taken to Grady hospital where he was treated and dismissed. Charges of reckless driving and accident were made against Speer.

POLICE BAND CONCLAVE SOUGHT FOR ATLANTA

Atlantans may be given the opportunity of hearing "swing" music as interpreted by five southern police bands, if plans of A. W. Jones, city smoke inspector and secretary of the Southern Association of Police Bands, materialize.

Jones announced yesterday that he is trying to have the association hold its convention in Atlanta this summer.

The group is composed of police bands from Atlanta, Savannah, Augusta, New Orleans and Jacksonville. The Birmingham police band is now being reorganized and may send a delegation if the band is reorganized by convention time, Jones said.

Officers of the association, formed last year in Augusta, are Captain John Clancy, of Savannah, president; Lieutenant Walter Holley, of Augusta, vice president; and A. W. Jones, of Atlanta, secretary.

C. OF C. URGES LAW TO MAKE UNIONS BE 'RESPONSIBLE'

Employer-Employee Relations Are Far From Settled, Says Sibley.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP) Speakers at the annual session of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States called today for amendments to the Wagner labor relations act to make unions "responsible" for their acts.

James W. Hook, of New Haven, president of the Geometric Tool Company, told the chamber's national council that the act, recently held constitutional by the supreme court, would have to be amended in the interest of peace. "Labor," he said, "must be brought to see that passive acceptance by employers of a one-sided act does not make for peace but for industrial war. It must join with employers in a conscientious effort to rewrite the act in the public interest, making it fair to each side and rendering both sides responsible."

A similar stand was taken by John D. Black, Chicago law associate of Silas Strawn, former chamber president. Black said there was a question whether the act would not be responsible for "bigger and better strikes."

(The act guarantees free collective bargaining to workers and prohibits employers from interfering with the right.)

Harper Sibley, chamber president said "it is obvious that the broad question of employer-employee relationships is far from settled."

B. C. Heacock, Peoria, Ill., manufacturer, discouraged the idea that industry should adopt a "paternalistic" attitude toward labor.

JUNE VOTE RULES GIVEN BY YEOMANS

ing registry lists for the election. Some confusion has been in existence on the proper qualification of voters for the election, newly established by the general assembly and being held for the first time this year.

In ruling that 1936 taxes did not have to be paid until shortly before the election, Yeomans cited a constitutional provision which holds:

"Such payment (of poll taxes) must have been made at least six months prior to the election at which he offers to vote, except where such elections are held within six months from the expiration of the time fixed by law for the payment of such taxes."

Poll taxes, the attorney general pointed out, are due December 20 each year, making 1936 taxes due in less than six months from the election date.

"The constitution does not require that 1936 taxes be paid six months before the election of June 8, 1937, but it does require that all poll taxes must be paid before a person can vote," he ruled.

Exceptions to Rule.

The exceptions to the provision, he said, are women who registered for the first time after January 1, 1936, and men who became 21 years of age after the same date.

"I feel quite sure," Judge Yeomans said, "that if those who are legally registered but are due 1936 poll taxes only are notified as provided by law, they will make prompt payment and thus become qualified voters."

While the alcoholic beverage control act provides that the 1936 general election list of qualified voters shall be used in the referendum, the act also provides that it shall be held under "the same rules and regulations as applied to elections for members of the general assembly," Yeomans said.

In following the latter provision, he applied the constitutional rule that any voter "shall have paid all poll taxes that he may have had an opportunity of paying agreeably to law."

"I am therefore of the opinion," he said, "that the requirements for voting on the question of legalization and control of alcoholic beverages are the same as apply to any other question submitted to the vote of the people on June 8, 1937."

Novel Use of Sit-Down May Gain Her Divorce

LONGMONT, Col., April 27.—(AP)—Guy Johnson, target of a sit-down strike maneuver by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Genevieve Johnson, 26, sought legal advice today on a means of ending her occupation of his front yard.

Mrs. Johnson says she'll continue until her husband, Ralph, agrees to a separation and assures her separate maintenance funds.

Today, Mrs. Johnson took up her original position on the front lawn.

Revenue Increases For Union Pacific

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—An increase of more than 34 per cent in Union Pacific Railroad Company's 1936 passenger revenue was the greatest percentage gain for any large railroad in the United States, said W. A. Harriman, chairman of the board, in the company's 1936 pamphlet report released today.

Inland Steel Company Votes Cash Dividend

CHICAGO, April 27.—(AP)—Inland Steel Company directors voted a cash dividend of $1 a share today and an extra cash dividend of 50 cents on the capital stock, payable June 1 to stockholders of record May 14.

2 SISTERS MEET AFTER 75 YEARS

the post of foreman of the New York Times composing room for the past 34 years, going there from The Constitution. After her first husband died, Mrs. Baird married William Saffold in 1898, who died recently.

Dughter in Columbus. Sister Sara lived in Alabama and grew up and married Alfred Streiten and had nine children. One of her daughters, known as "Missie," married and moved to Columbus.

Fate stepped into the picture at this time and brought "Missie" and Mrs. Clarence Stanley, great-niece of Mrs. Saffold, together. A conversation which resulted in establishing their identity brought together the two sisters.

Arrangements were made for their meeting and last month in Columbus, two white-haired old ladies tried to tell in a brief few hours their lives and the events of 75 years.

"It was all like a dream come true," said Mrs. Saffold. "If you have never found a sister you never know the feeling I had when I saw Sara. It was like meeting a stranger."

"I had never had a mental picture of her because I had always thought she died because when I left her in Union Springs, I remember my grandfather told me maybe I would never see her again for she had typhoid fever. I always remembered her as the little girl to play dolls with."

"I don't remember my mother for she and father died when I was three, but finding sister is one of the most wonderful experiences I have ever had. We are planning a big reunion this summer in Columbus."

Mrs. Saffold is white-haired but defies her 79 years. She is very active and for the past 46 years has made her living as a dressmaker. She is very talkative and is keenly interested in events of the day. She has a quiet manner and is, in all, a living model of the gentility and femininity so closely associated with women of the sixties.

She doesn't think much about patterns and sewing machines today and how hard it was to make those ten men's overcoats last year, and of the pile of sewing which rests in her baskets. She has a far-away gleam in her eyes and an overwhelming desire to talk about Sister Sara and to tell her friends about the reunion this summer. Most of all she wants to show the kodak picture made last week of "us two girls."

N. C. COUNTY BALLOTS OVERWHELMINGLY WET

DURHAM, N. C., April 27.—(UP)—Durham county voters, balloting under provisions of North Carolina's 1937 county-option liquor law, decided overwhelmingly today in favor of setting up liquor stores under state supervision, complete, unofficial returns indicated tonight.

The unofficial vote count for all 30 of the county's precincts showed:

For establishment of liquor stores—7,784.

Against—3,308.

SANTEE DRILLER RETURNS TO STAND

Witness Testifies for 3
Utilities Seeking To Block Federal Project.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 27.—(AP)—Floyd R. Jones, who supervised drillings for rock specimens at the site of the proposed $37,500,000 Santee-Cooper power and navigation project, returned to the stand today and testified in behalf of three power companies which seek to restrain the Public Works Administration from financing the development.

Jones testified, shortly after the defense had rested, as to methods used in drilling holes in the Santee basin and to the type of equipment employed.

Federal Judge Glenn overruled defense objections, saying "you presented testimony that these people bored these holes in a highly haphazard, harem scum manner. Here's a man who was on the job and I'm going to let him testify."

Glenn had previously ruled against the defense, the South Carolina Public Service Authority and the Public Works Administration, in excluding from evidence data presented the Federal Power Commission by the Authority in securing a license, but admitted a copy of the license.

Heiress' Spouse Says Capitalism Has Never Lived

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—Defending capitalism, James H. R. Cromwell and Hugo E. Czerwonky believe "true capitalism is not dead because it has never lived."

Cromwell is the husband of the former Doris Duke, tobacco heiress and "world's richest girl." This belief is contained in their book, "In Defense of Capitalism," which will be published tomorrow by Scribner's.

"For seven lean years," the authors said, "those of us who believe in individualism, freedom and democracy, have heard our institutions attacked and our convictions derided. We have repeatedly been assured that capitalism has failed and that only a new order of tyranny, regimentation and collectivism can save the world from chaos and ruin. . . ."

"The fact is that capitalism is an ideal which never has been achieved. The collectivists and regimenters weep their crocodile tears in vain over the grave of capitalism, for the coffin within is empty."

"True capitalism is not dead because it has never lived! True capitalism means an economy of free and fair competition for profit and continuous work opportunity for all, and no informed person will claim that such a system has ever existed in America."

JANICE AND PURVIS GO SEPARATE WAYS

Actress, Ex-G-Man Are Non-committal on Wedding Plans.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, April 27.—(P)—Smiling Janice Jarratt and taciturn Melvin Purvis went their separate ways tonight, both noncommittal on the sudden postponement of their marriage only two days before their wedding date.

"I don't know what it is all about," Miss Jarratt said at a friend's home in Victoria, Texas, while in Fort Worth, running for a train, Purvis snapped: "I have no comment."

Pretty Miss Jarratt, professing complete ignorance of why their wedding, originally set for Thursday, had been put off, planned to board a friend's yacht at Port O'Connor to sail for New York, while Purvis, former ace G-man, was locked in a stateroom on a train speeding toward his home in San Francisco.

Wedding Postponed.

Relatives here announced indefinite postponement of the wedding a few hours before the intended bride and bridegroom were to have been honor guests at a dinner. None would say why, neither would Miss Jarratt, known as "America's most photographed girl," nor the former G-man who participated in the raid that ended the career of Dillinger.

Miss Jarratt, clad in sport clothes and smiling as if not disturbed by the postponement, told an interviewer: "You know more about this than I do. I have not been able to get in touch with Mr. Purvis, and I don't know what it is all about, except that the wedding is indefinitely postponed. That is all I can say."

In High Spirits.

The Austin Statesman said it learned from a source close to the wedding party that the principals had been in high spirits Sunday. They attended a breakfast party yesterday and in the afternoon, Miss Jarratt met Purvis in a San Antonio hotel lobby.

"There were low words," the Statesman said, "and a general air of suppressed fireworks. Then Purvis swung on his heel and stalked away while Miss Jarratt waved nonchalantly to friends and remarked: 'I'll see you later,' and left."

FLORIDA RAIL HEIR

IS SUED FOR DIVORCE

NEW LONDON, Conn., April 27.—(UP)—Philip M. Plant, grandson of the late Henry A. Plant, Florida railroad builder and financier, today was served with divorce papers charging him with adultery and habitual intemperance.

Plant, who recently returned from an African research expedition, has been wed twice. His first wife was Constance Bennett, motion picture star. His present wife is the former Edna Durham, Boston, whom he married April 11, 1936, at Clearwater, Fla. It was understood a $500,000 attachment order accompanied the divorce papers.

Wives of Textile Workers Canvassed by CIO

Wives of textile workers are being canvassed for support in organizing the workers of the southeast for the Textile Workers' Organizing Committee, affiliate of John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization. A woman organizer, Jolee Walden, is shown here interviewing a worker's wife. A drive to organize textile workers also has been announced by CIO's rival, the American Federation of Labor.

workers of the southeast, announced by Goode some days ago. Lawrence said he thought Goode's invitation "might have something to do with that."

Lawrence's action in accepting responsibility for TWOC in the Carolinas and his determination to hold to his place as president of the NCFL, brings his case to an exact parallel to that of Nance. Nearly six months ago, Nance took up his connection with CIO organizations, with the explanation that he sought only to "organize the unorganized." Organizations with which he identified himself, he said, had been outlawed by AFL's President Green and "should be organized somewhere."

Nance Parallels.

A month ago, Green demanded that Nance resign as GFL president and Nance refused. Green then called on the Georgia executive board to remove him and the board refused. Frank J. Dillon, general AFL organizer, was sent to Atlanta for the state labor convention with orders from Green to put Nance out. Dillon presented his demands to Nance in the convention and, on the latter's refusal, led "faithful AFL" delegates from the hall to another across the street. There he set up another convention, of which Gramling was elected president.

Nance, repeatedly declaring his fealty to the American Federation of Labor, has contended that Green acted without authority in ordering his removal, basing his contention on his statement that a "status quo" order of Green and the AFL executive council, providing that action against CIO affiliates in state federations be held in abeyance, had never been lifted. Green, through Goode and other representatives participating in the controversy with Nance, held the order was lifted in a letter of February 24, in which Nance said the status quo was not mentioned.

Lawrence is serving his seventh term as president of the North Carolina federation, has served the local International Typographical Union at Winston-Salem a president and has been president of the Winston-Salem Central Labor Union. For several years he has been vice president of the Virginia-Carolina Typographical conference, which embraces the District of Columbia, Virginia and the two Carolinas. He has been an organizer in North Carolina for the AFL, he said, "off and on" for the past five years.

Nance's TWOC headquarters occupies an elaborate suite of offices in the Atlanta National building, on the same floor with Nance's private office and headquarters of the GFL. F. E. Daniel is executive assistant to Nance and a staff of clerks attends to the routine.

Organizers already have been appointed in textile areas in Nance's territory, which extends from the Potomac River to Texas, taking in every southeastern state employing textile labor. Three offices are in North Carolina, one in South Carolina and three in Tennessee.

Nance said others will be selected as the work of organization progresses.

GREEN IS SILENT ON APPOINTMENT

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(P)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declined tonight to comment on the appointment of Roy R. Lawrence, president of the North Carolina Federation of Labor, to head the CIO textile organization drive in North and South Carolina.

"I don't have any comment whatever," Green said.

Britain To Furnish Visitors Companions

LONDON, April 27.—(UP)—A travel agency announced tonight that it is prepared to relieve the loneliness of Americans and other coronation visitors by providing them with intriguing male or female companions at $6.25 a day.

Male visitors will be able to obtain the exclusive services of pretty British girls from 10 a. m. to 5 p. m. or alternately from 7 p. m. to midnight. Handsome college men will be provided for women visitors at the same rate.

Elderly people who prefer older companions may obtain the services of men or women about 40 years old.

AFL PICKS TEXTILES FOR TEST WITH CIO

Goode, in Alabama, Assails 'Sit-Down' and 'Slow-Down' Strikes.

ANNISTON, Ala., April 27.—(P)—The American Federation of Labor chose today an opposition stronghold—cotton textiles—for a crucial test in its southern battle with John L. Lewis' Committee for Industrial Organization.

George Goode, ranking southern officer of the AFL, threw a direct challenge to the Lewis labor group in an address here before the Alabama Federation of Labor, which has been "purged" of Lewis supporters on Goode's instruction.

Textile workers already are organized in many mills of Alabama and other southern states under the Lewis banner as members of the United Textile Workers of America.

Goode, emissary in the south of AFL President William Green, said organizers would take the field immediately in "a clarion call to the banner of the AFL and true Americanism."

Delegates from Alabama's craft unions heard him condemn the "sit-down and slow-down strike," and pledge the federation to work against "the subversive proponents of foreign ideals, imported from Moscow, Berlin and the Orient."

Discussing the textile organization drive, Goode said it would be made "by southerners for southerners." He declared the federation planned to urge the 320,000 textile workers to come directly under the AFL.

"We are opposed to any widening of differentials in wages in the south," he said, "and we join the committee of southern governors in that fight."

Hit-and-Run Ship Rams Tampa Dock

TAMPA, Fla., April 27.—(P)—Harbor police were looking for a new type of "hit and run" driver today.

During the night an unidentified vessel rammed a dock, did damage estimated by the owners at $6,000, and then scurried away under cover of night.

The vessel crashed into the Tampa Electric Company's docks. Timbers flew and pipes used for unloading oil cargoes were bent.

HIGH LIVING COSTS ALARM ROOSEVELT

Chief Executive Also Warns Public Against Speculation.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(P)—President Roosevelt, finding new problems to tackle as the result of rising prices, issued a double warning today to congress against boosting the cost of living, and to the public against speculation.

At the same time, he made known that Attorney General Cummings had advised him that an overhauling of the anti-trust laws is in order. Cummings declared that these laws should be revamped to facilitate government action against monopolies.

The President started the day by expressing concern to congress over rising living costs. In a letter to Vice President Garner he said, "The present hazard of undue advances in prices, with a resultant rise in the cost of living, makes it most untimely to legalize any competitive or marketing practice calculated to facilitate

SENATE COMMITTEE STUDIES COURT BILL

Administration Forces Seek Two Weeks' Limit for Discussion.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(UP)—The senate judiciary committee today began secret consideration of President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization bill with administration forces seeking a two-weeks' limit on discussion, thus bringing the measure to the floor in mid-May.

Senator Logan, Kentucky Democrat, said he will ask unanimous consent tomorrow that debate end after two weeks and that on May 11 the committee vote on all amendments and the bill itself.

"I think the consent will be granted," he said.

But other members seemed doubtful. Senator Steiwer, Oregon Republican, doubted that two weeks would be sufficient time, and Senator McGill, Kansas Democrat, thought it would be more than enough. Logan, however, could offer his suggestion as a motion which would require only a majority vote to pass. The limit was suggested by senate administration leaders, it was learned.

The first executive session of the committee lasted an hour and a half and there was no formal action.

After the committee had adjourned, Senator McGill, Kansas, Democrat, introduced in the senate an amendment which would raise the retirement age from 70 to 75 and permit appointment of not more than two supreme court justices annually.

THE HERNDON CASE DECISION

The ruling by the United States supreme court in the Angelo Herndon case upholds the decision rendered, on practically the same grounds, by Judge Hugh M. Dorsey in Fulton county superior court. Both the Fulton jurist and the highest tribunal of the land held that the conviction of the negro Communist was upon grounds too vague, thereby violating his constitutional rights of free speech.

The constitutionality of the Georgia anti-sedition act of 1871, under which Herndon was found guilty, is not definitely determined by the supreme court decision. The justices, in their majority opinion, hold only that the grounds for conviction in this particular case were too "vague and indeterminate." The question of the constitutionality of the law itself must await a test on more clear-cut grounds.

Regardless, however, of whether or not this particular Georgia statute is constitutional, Communists of all shades, whether deep-dyed reds or mere dilute pinks, may take warning from this case that they are not wanted in Georgia. Either under the act of 1871 or under some other law, this state will not permit attacks upon the sanctity of the constitutional government under which the people of Georgia and of America live.

The right of free speech and the right of free assembly are guaranteed under the constitution, but that pledge of rights never contemplated attack upon the very instrument of guarantee itself.

IS THE END IN SPAIN IN SIGHT?

The Basque defenders of Bilbao, allies of the Loyalist forces in Spain, have asked foreign diplomats to act as mediators with their besiegers, the Spanish Rebels, in a move to determine the basis of surrender.

Surrender of Bilbao would, in all probability, presage early end of the civil conflict in Spain and foreshadow quick victory for the Rebel armies under General Franco.

With Bilbao fallen, the chief channel of communication between the besieged Loyalists in Madrid and France would be closed. It is from France that most of the supplies and support for the Loyalist side have come. It would probably mean, if Bilbao surrendered, the early surrender of Madrid.

Overthrow of the Loyalists would again place Great Britain in a critical position in the international game played by the European nations. The sympathies of Britain have been with the Loyalists throughout, chiefly because, with the Rebels in full command of Spain, a new menace would loom for Gibraltar, the British stronghold which guards the entrance of the Mediterranean and which is the gateway for all traffic and for all commerce between the western nations and the orient.

Britain cannot, in any circumstances, contemplate losing Gibraltar. To lose this mighty guardian of a vital seaway would be to sever a vital artery of the far-flung British Empire.

Triumph of the Spanish Rebels will mean, more than ever, that Britain must push forward her armament program. She could never, then, permit even a suspicion that she is not today, as in days gone past, the monarch of the seas and the impregnable champion of the freedom of ocean commerce.

FINLEY ELEVATED

The elevation of Dr. John H. Finley to the editorial chair of the New York Times brings a man fully equipped and ideally qualified for the position to what is, in many respects, the most important editorial position in the world.

The New York Times is, more truly than any other paper published in America, a national newspaper. Not only is it outstanding in New York and its normal circulation territory, but there is not a town, hardly a village, in all America where it is not read. It is, in addition, an international newspaper, its editorial opinions being closely studied throughout the world.

Dr. Finley has held the associate editorship of the Times since 1921. Since the death of the late Rollo Ogden he has been acting editor, and the announcement by the publishers of his promotion to editor will be welcomed as a deserving recognition of unusual qualifications.

He is fitted by natural gifts, by education and by experience for the great responsibilities he has now assumed and, beyond question, those qualities of power, of even-tempered opinion, of well-thought conviction which have marked the editorial policy of the Times in the past will be continued and enhanced under his guidance.

Especially in Atlanta, where he has frequently visited and where his daughter, Mrs. William H. Kiser Jr., is a prominent and popular member of society, will the news of Dr. Finley's elevation be received with cordial interest.

A PLEDGE FOR PRISON REFORM

That reform of some nature in the prison system of the state is needed is increasingly evidenced. The frequent escapes from the prison camps and the repeated accusations of undesirable conditions in some camps demand fullest investigation, followed by prompt steps to remedy whatever condition is found at fault.

Representative E. L. Almand, chairman of the penitentiary committee of the Georgia house of representatives, in a letter to The Constitution, says:

Editor Constitution: I read with a great deal of interest your editorial in Tuesday's (April 20) issue headed "In Again and Out Again."

I have known for some time that there should be some change made in our penitentiary laws, and as chairman of the penitentiary committee of the house of representatives, I expect to visit every camp in the state during this year with a committee from the senate. If we find the law should be amended, we hope to get the Governor to include in his call for the special session this year any recommendations that we may recommend for the improvement of the prison conditions in Georgia.

Representative Almand should be able, by such means, to arrive at the truth concerning Georgia's prisons. He should discover why it is so easy to escape that any convict with the desire for freedom generally walks away at his own convenience.

He should, likewise, discover if there is any foundation for the charges that treatment of prisoners is either too harsh or too lenient.

Then, armed with this first-hand information, the proper measures to amend the convict laws of the state can be drawn and presented to the legislature.

BOOM IN ENGLAND

England is enjoying real prosperity at present, thanks to a $7,500,000,000 rearmament program and the coming coronation. But the boom resulting means deflation for the already overburdened taxpayer. To meet these newly authorized expenditures, income taxes are being increased.

The huge amount of business the coronation of the King will bring is commented on by Alvin Adee in Events for April, as follows:

It is even anticipated that the influx of tourists—money—one of the "invisible" items in foreign trade—will be sufficient to convert last year's deficit ($19,000,000) into a surplus. In any case, whatever may be the political and social significance of this particular coronation, it is now openly regarded as little more than a magnificent pretext for a commercial enterprise with innumerable opportunities for direct and indirect profiteering. Owners or tenants of premises with windows looking out on the route of the procession are asking prices running up to hundreds of pounds for a seat; hotel proprietors and lodging-house keepers are demanding unconscionable terms for rooms; and at every turn visitors are going to be victims of all good Britons who are in a position to charge "all that the traffic can bear."

With mill and factory and shipyard once more in full swing, and with the speeding of preparations for the coronation festival, the air is tingling with excitement and rejoicing is general that "happy days are here again."

The business boom coming from the rearmament program is at least a silver lining to the black cloud of debt the nation is piling up—but Britain had no other alternative. The dangers to the British Empire—threatened control by Italy of the Mediterranean and the ugly situation in Spain—are largely due to British arms weakness.

Great Britain now realizes she must be ready for emergencies that might arise. To be amply prepared may mean peace.

Editorial of the Day

WHY EXCITEMENT OVER BREECHES?

(From the Columbia (S. C.) State.)

Why all the excitement in the metropolitan press over the costumes to be worn by American officials and American private gentlemen invited to participate in the coronation?

Reading the stories recently printed one is led to conclude that there must be general lack of comprehension of the proprieties, coupled with a lot of foolish prejudice.

When J. P. Morgan sailed from New York the other day, reporters and photographers surrounded him. "What will you wear at the coronation?" they shouted. "I'll wear what my hosts expect me to wear. You do not accept an invitation to dinner and attend dressed in a nightgown."

The fact that United States Ambassador Robert W. Bingham is going to wear "court dress" at the coronation is regarded by an American news agency as sufficiently important to cable across the seas, and to be featured under "horse heads" in some of our newspapers. The sad part of it is, however, that the correspondent designated the leg coverings as "knee trousers." There is no such creature, either in the zoo or in the sartorial lexicon. That is just a bit worse than calling them "knee pants." These things are "breeches"—and have been worn by as gallant gentlemen as ever lived.

A dispatch from London recalls that when Colonel George Harvey donned silk stockings and breeches to attend a royal wedding, American newspapers "had a lot of fun out of the incident" and many Americans wrote him angry letters, saying he should "have been ashamed of himself." Which just goes to show how foolish we may be in attempting to be funny, and how ignorance of the proprieties can cause persons open to prejudice to expose themselves.

NEWS BEHIND THE NEWS

By PAUL MALLON.

WHERE? WASHINGTON, April 27.—Industry is continuing to swell its output even beyond 1929 bounds. You may have noticed the Federal Reserve Board officially announced the other day that industrial production had reached 119 per cent in March, as compared with the 1929 average of 119. Now, it is being estimated unofficially but authoritatively here that April will be up 3 points more to about 121 per cent, which is 2 points above 1929. This makes the question of where we are going a matter of acute immediate concern to the powers-that-be.

Bigwigs in the stock market generally know about changing trends before outsiders. At least that is their business. From the manner in which the market has been acting lately, it is evident that they sense a recession.

This guess is sanctioned by nearly every economist in the government, but only in private, of course.

The economists seem to agree unanimously that a period of readjustment is in prospect, that it probably will not be extensive or serious. They disagree about when it will come; some say now, some say in the fall.

A rather significant hint apparently lies in the fact that prices, which have been going up steadily since last summer, reached a peak four weeks ago and have been easing steadily downward since that time.

UN-JACKING? This may mean that expanding production has reached a temporary price ceiling, but authorities who value their record for accuracy will wait a few weeks before saying so in print.

For one thing, the reversal of the price trend started in a peculiar way. Immediately after President Roosevelt announced that heavy goods prices were too high, some of the heavy goods values started easing off. At the same time weakness was noted in foreign markets. Down since April 3 are copper, rubber, cotton, wool, silk, lead, rubber, rye. Copper is off 2 1/2 cents from 17 to 14 1/2; cotton off 1 1/3 cents; rubber off 4 from 27.

But commodity prices generally failed to follow this trend. The index of all commodities, except farm products and foods, kept going right up from 84.4 on February 27, to 85.8 on March 27 and to 86.5 on April 25. Also going up are textiles, metals, building materials.

Until these still-increasing prices decide what they are going to do, the general trend will be in doubt. But there are indisputable indications that the sensitive speculators have lost some of their enthusiasm. Their arid air is cooling, both here and abroad.

Note—Of course, few of these price decreases have reached the consumer yet. All cited are wholesale prices.

CHART The business chart, which follows, shows employment and wages in the factories is still going up beyond the previously announced official figures. It shows the wage earner is in relatively a better position than 1929, with his wages at 102.5 and his prices around 87.4. It likewise indicates that, at the time when Mr. Roosevelt was asking congress for another billion and a half dollars for relief, factory employment and pay rolls were above the 1923-25 "normal."

Each figure in the chart represents the percentage of 1923-25 as normal for the period stated. Most of the figures are adjusted for seasonal variations and are official, except those of April, which are privately estimated.

Year	Industrial Production	Factory Employment	Pay Rolls	Frt. Loadings	Dept. Store Sales	Bldg. Contracts	Whole-sale Prices
1929 Average	119	105	109	106	111	117	95.3
1936 Average	105	92	82	72	88	55	80.6
1937 Jan.	97	89	74	70	81	61	80.6
Feb.	116	99.7	95.8	80	95	62	86.3
March	118	100.8	101.2	83	92	55	87.8
(Est.) April	121	101.5	102.5	82	91	58	87.4

NOTES What General Franco is trying to do is to clean out Bilbao before turning back again on Madrid. He realizes at last the danger to his communications by the sizable force of Loyalists in the rear. Military men think he had better hurry. Each passing day gives the Loyalists strength while Franco is entirely dependent on the arrival of fresh aid from outside forces.

Those new secret treasury tax revision recommendations were prepared by Undersecretary McGill, instead of Treasury Counsel Oliphant, although both worked on them. They will not be submitted unless the treasury changes its mind about tax needs.

That Anglo-French pact guaranteeing a free Belgium merely made the best of a bad situation for Britain and France. When Belgium announced she would be neutral in the next European war, she practically forced her two ex-allies into renewing their fealty. They cannot afford to leave Belgium open.

It has not been brought out, but the State Department had a prowl through files for days before establishing the American citizenship of Helmut Hirsch who has been sentenced to death in Hitlerland for high treason. There was some doubt about Helmut's father, Siegfried, but the department finally decided the Grandfather Hirsch had claims to citizenship, which makes Helmut a citizen, but not a very close one.

Representative Warren, of North Carolina, keeps in his pocket a constant budget reminder, a clipping from J. Micawber's recipe for happiness to David Copperfield: "Annual income 20 pounds; annual expenditure 19 pounds, 19 shillings, 6 pence; result: happiness. Annual income 20 pounds; annual expenditure 20 pounds, 0 shillings, 6 pence; result: misery." There are reports, not emanating from Warren, that he is preparing a gold embossed duplicate for Mr. Roosevelt to hang in the executive office.

SILHOUETTES

By RALPH T. JONES.

When spring comes slow,
When the sun feels cold,
You ought to know
You're getting old.

When the ankles ache
When a block you've strolled,
When love's a fake
You're getting old.

But while you can laugh
As the years unfold,
Life's beauty quaff—
You can't grow old.

I Suspect
She Was Kidding.
Young mother boarded a street car with her son, about five or six years old. His bright conversation could be heard by at least half the passengers.

"If I had one more penny," he said, "I could buy a woman's tongue."

Such a startling statement compelled inquiry, even though there hadn't been formal introductions. So one fellow rider looked questioningly at the mother.

"It's the name of a plant," she laughed. "Billy spends all his money on flowers and plants."

There was a murmur of interested approval, so she continued. "Where we live there is a florist's garden, a nursery, half a block away, and Billy takes every penny he can get and buys things for his own garden. You ought to see it, it's really beautiful. He knows all the flowers and plants by name."

So far, her story was interesting and reasonable. But she went on: "When he woke up he went to the bathroom, shaved and donned a clean shirt and a newly pressed suit of clothes. Went to his office and started to work. And, at the end of an hour's labor, wondered why it was getting darker instead of lighter. Thirty minutes later realized no one else was at work in the building and finally discovered it wasn't morning, but evening. About 7:30 o'clock."

Twenty-Five Years Ago Today.
From The Constitution of Sunday, April 28, 1912:

"With hats and hands madly waving in the air, feet pounding the floor and voices crying farewell in a frenzy of enthusiasm, Atlanta last night bade goodbye to the Metropolitan Opera Company at the close of their third season here."

And Fifty Years Ago.
From The Constitution of Thursday, April 28, 1867:

Macon, Ga., April 27.—(Special.)—There is a movement on foot to get that portion of Third street between Walnut and Mulberry improved and paved. Among all the propositions of public improvement none has been suggested that would do more toward beautifying the city than this."

Fair Enough

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

Statesmen WASHINGTON, April 27.—With the possible exception of this column, the United States congress is the last place in which to look for consistency, and thus it is no surprise to find some of the statesmen protesting against the wearing of silk bloomers by our Mr. Jimmy Gerard at the British coronation. Silk bloomers are sedate attire by comparison with the trappings of the typical American jockey who usually is the leading spirit of his home community and often finds his way to congress.

I have never seen a coronation, but I did watch the big parade of professional killers at the funeral of the late King George, and had no basis for comparison except some national conventions of American fraternal orders in Atlantic City and elsewhere at home. The monarchs and princes, marshals and generals who walked slowly behind the gun-carriage wore every conceivable combination of colors and from their helmets, some of which resembled nothing so much as the old-fashioned brass gobboons of the corner ginmill, there streamed behind a variety of plumes made from white horse tails and the feathers of domestic fowl.

There were some who obviously were laced into corsets, and a couple of old British field marshals tottered along holding wooden batons adorned with little gold lions, almost too feeble for the effort, although they were supported by a person or two. The vanity of the occasion contrasted with the nominal purpose which was to commend to God in deep humility the soul of an exhausted servant, but the vanity of nations was more apparent than the vanity of the individual men in line, although the men of the younger, tougher killers went by strutting with the arrogant vigor of youth.

Nations, when they meet that way, even on occasions for sorrow, instinctively try to impress the world with their past feats of slaughter and their readiness to do it again, and the clergy in their obscure and servile role, seem as savage priests making war medicine for the chiefs.

Families

In this country when the brothers and sometimes the sisters turn out in lace and epaulets and burnished hats they march merely to march and be seen and, perhaps, applauded by their families and neighbors and customers. Custom provides that there shall be an annual national convention for the purpose of social reunion and the transaction of certain routine business, such as formal resolutions of condolence to the kin of departed members or of high fraternal purpose.

The unity of the breastplates and buckles and feathers is a personal, little-boy feeling, and nobody outside the ranks regards the spectacle seriously.

It is harmless and good for the business houses which manufacture uniforms for lion tamers and variety stands, but the display is characteristically American and inconsistent with that professed aversion of ours for pomp and panoply. In fact, the protuberant abdomens and the earnest, swayed posture of druggists and dentists, grocers and meat markets, men wearing horn-rimmed spectacles and gentling their fevered feet over hot pavements in summer impart more than a touch of the ridiculous to our processions and assure us that no serious force of arms need ever be feared from them.

Professional soldiers, on the other hand, far anticipated General Johnson Hagood's suggestion that war is a blue denim business nowadays. They marched in the last inaugural parade, precise and tidy in their equipment and their dress, but without sartorial foolishness, and the shuffling, stumbling ranks of the private and honorary orders were absent from the procession.

Army Man's The most practical and the least is that of the American military man in his working suit and he is a sparrow to a hummingbird by comparison with the civilian sons of the order of I-will-raise.

Uniforms, we love them, and General Goetz himself cannot tell us certain variety drum majors of the west and south in football season, but ours are merely funny, whereas theirs, on the other side, are funny but also grim.

The affected scorn for black silk bloomers as worn at the British court is only affectation, for certainly the American tail coat is no less fussy and absurd.

And at the Vatican, Americans in common with all others, must wear formal evening dress even in the morning to be received by the Pope, and hundreds do and think nothing of it beyond a little feeling of bashfulness in broad daylight.

So let Jimmy Gerard go in bloomers to the coronation or in red tights or the old-time union suit, if that is what the custom of the country asks for. He cannot be more funny than row on row of common, God-fearing, baby-having us-folks trudging down the boiling planks of Atlantic City's boardwalk in July done up in flower-pot hats and swords and slippers curled up at the toes.

THIS MORNING

By JOHN TEMPLE GRAVES II.

"Here about the beach I wandered,
Nourishing a youth sublime
With the fairy tales of science
And the long results of time . . ."

White-capped armies in blue, row upon row, marching to a brilliant shore. Marching to a shore that makes a highway one-tenth of a mile wide, and so firm and smooth that no man-made one compares. Marching in ranks 23 miles long, with a tread graceful, majestic and sure. Marching in sunlight, with a soft breeze in convoy. Marching forever, and forever various in hue and pace. This writer has not visited all the famous beaches in the world by a long shot, but of many he has seen Daytona is easily the finest. No other has such expanses of water and shore, such dignities, such infinities.

Daytona Beach's "official greeter and guide" bulletin calls it "the world's most famous beach." Even though a bitter experience of 11 years' standing has taught us to demote most of the riotous superlatives employed in Florida to sober comparative or pulseless positivities, this is one superlative we incline to accept. If Daytona's is not the "world's most famous beach" it should be, for it is surely the world's most perfect.

The south is not all tobacco and cotton and history and problems of industry and agriculture and accent. The south is also the sea. Without stopping to add them up it needs only a map to see how far the coastline of the southern states exceed in total those of any other region. The maritime south, for holiday and commerce and sport, is a mighty factor in those inventories which are drawing eyes in this direction now. We Russia Wants a Fleet.

AUSTIN, Texas.—The negotiations now going on in this country between representatives of the Soviet government and steel-plate manufacturers for the acquisition by Russia of material to build a dreadnaught, have focused attention once more on the maritime supremacy question. Russia is going to build a battle fleet. If she does not get the material and especially the machinery and guns in this country, she will get the stuff somewhere else. France is already laying the keels for six battle cruisers destined for the Red navy.

Why all this preparation? In the first place Britain permitted Germany to start construction of a battle fleet one-third the size of the British navy. This Germany has done. Berlin controls the Baltic sea today. It was clear that with so powerful an aggressive weapon in the hands of her chief opponent, the Russian state was bound to follow sooner or later. Maybe the British even calculated that the new Russia would need the navy to guard the Bosphorus and the Dardanelles.

For the general armament campaign is really a colossal business undertaking and the English are a nation of shopkeepers. Without that armament business Europe would be in a sorry plight today, economically speaking. There would probably be all sorts of upheavals, revolts, revolutions due to economic misery and unemployment, etc. We ought, therefore, to be a little more grateful to the geniuses who set the wheels of industry in motion again over there by starting to manufacture death-dealing instruments. They are the saviors of the world—for the time being.

It is said that Russia wants a fleet equal to that of Japan. If that is true, it is a big order. But I suppose it can be done. Russia is the greatest gold-producing country in the world and nobody, as far as I know, sneezes at gold. If the Bolsheviks come across with the dough—and they have hitherto been punctilious in their payments everywhere—they can have not one fleet. They can have a baker's dozen. Who cares what they are going to do with it as long as the cash comes in?

They had a considerable navy once before, the Russians did. That fleet once occupied every spare moment of my youthful imagination. It had sailed from Kronstadt, I think it was in the summer of 1905, on a cruise to the Far East. Every day I went to the railway station of the little town where I lived to buy a newspaper from the porter of an express that passed just around 5 o'clock when school was out. Stoessel was defending Port Arinlanders cannot afford to overlook it. From our ardent land-lubbing we need often time out for the seagoing south.

R. F. Burch Jr., commissioner of Georgia's new department of natural resources, writes this column interestingly of attention he wants his department to give matter of forest conservation. Next to the soil itself there is no natural resource in the south which needs organized and official protection so badly as our southern forests do, it seems to this column. The development of a great paper-making industry here and the promise of newsprint as a new product of that industry have made forest conservation a problem as never before. And the problem is advertised in the tragedies of storm and flood that have been visited upon the nation as a result, in part, of a wanton denuding of the land.

Both the need and the opportunity for safeguarding our forests are greater today than they have ever been before.

Those of us who are not scientists in the matter must stand by and listen respectfully while those who are indeed scientists argue about the relative efficacy of law and of education for forest conservation. Dr. Charles Herty advises this column that what is needed is not laws—he thinks there are too many laws of all sorts already—but educational campaigns.

Many experts seem to agree with him. On the other hand, we have letters from federal and state forestry officials insisting that unless conservation laws are made and enforced the forests of the south are doomed to destruction.

Without knowing which side is right, the layman can demand at least that the right be discovered and applied. Whatever needs to be done to protect the forests of the south must be done, and immediately. That is certain.

PROSPERITY FOR AMERICA

Editor Constitution: America will attain greater prosperity than ever before. More of the poor classes will share this prosperity and there will be fewer enormously rich people.

If the people will only co-operate with the President in his program, more will own their own homes and farms, and many who are unemployed will get work to do.

New discoveries and inventions are being made every day. Television will be even more common than radios are today. Telephones will be more than doubled. Air conditioning systems and sun lamps will be available to the majority of the people.

With all the new inventions and discoveries there is no reason why this nation shouldn't see real prosperity. The main thing this country needs to day is for the government and the people to put their heads together and co-operate, then we will get somewhere.

RECUITS CZAR'S EFFORTS FOR PEACE

Editor Constitution: Westbrook Pegler writes:

"Not even Mike (Prince Michael Cantacuzen) could argue that his Czar was worth his weight in garbage."

In 1899 the late Emperor Nicholas II invited the governments of the civilized nations of the world to exercise their efforts for preventing war. At his suggestion an international conference was held at the Hague. His representatives urged an agreement of the powers present to suspend the increase of their armies and navies and to submit future differences between them to international arbitration. The proposal was rejected by the representative of one of the great European powers.

In 1907, seven years before the outbreak of the great war, Nicholas II called a second conference at the Hague and his representatives again suggested international arbitration in international conflicts and certain limitations in the practice of war. One of the suggested rules of war was against the use of asphyxiating gases and of explosive projectiles from aircraft. These proposals were again rejected.

Belgian Policy Involves Fate Of All Europe

By PERTINAX.
(Copyright, 1937, by The Constitution and the North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

PARIS, April 27.—(By Wire)—This week and last week have been crowded with diplomatic negotiations which may have far-reaching consequences upon the fate of the European continent. The situation as it exists today can be summarized as follows:

Through their joint declaration of April 24, Great Britain and France have relieved Belgium of her obligations of mutual assistance toward them as outlined in the Locarno pact in 1925 and, more precisely and extensively, on March 19, 1936. Simultaneously, they have promised to lend military help if Belgium should be attacked.

The only commitment entered into by Belgium (and not even under juridical form) is to defend her own territory with adequate forces and to remain faithful to the League's covenant. Now, Belgian ministers, under pressure of King Leopold, intend to obtain from Germany a pledge of non-aggression, but German diplomacy is striving to make use of the opportunity to make Belgium scrap the League's covenant and shut herself up in a position of contractual neutrality as during the period from 1839 to 1914.

In Bucharest, Colonel Joseph Beck, the Polish foreign minister, has tried to persuade King Carol that the League's covenant of collective security is dead and that he had better follow the example of the Polish government which, in September, 1934, unilaterally denounced the international treaty for the protection of minorities, come to terms with Hungary and Italy, apart from Czechoslovakia, in violation of the rules of the Little Entente, and revive the Polish-Rumanian treaty, which, in a sense, is hostile to Soviet Russia.

It is still unknown to what extent Carol gave way, but it is reported he was incited when he heard that Nicholas Titulesco, former foreign minister, had lunched with Premier Blum and Foreign Minister Delbos last Saturday and had recommended to them that they take up a stronger attitude in Bucharest. The danger is that, as the outcome of all these diplomatic negotiations, Czechoslovakia, Austria, Yugoslavia and Rumania may come to terms with the dictators and supply them with a good many of the raw materials that they so sadly need for the completion of their warlike preparations.

rejected by one of the powers represented at the conference.

On July 30, 1914, when Austria, Russia and Germany had ordered general mobilization and stood ready for war, the Czar Nicholas II wired directly to Emperor William II, insisting that the conflict between Austria and Serbia should be submitted to arbitration at the Hague. If this suggestion had been accepted by the Kaiser, there would have been no war and millions of lives, among which were many Americans, would have been spared.

I ask, how much better has been done and attempted by Mr. Pegler who, I have no doubt, is worth his weight in gold.

PLEADS FOR RETURN OF OPERA

Editor Constitution: The reference in your editorial columns yesterday to plans for a return of grand opera to Atlanta is calculated to bring on an attack of acute nostalgia to those who recall the good old days when Caruso, armed with a cane and a bag of goobers, used to stroll up and down Peachtree watching the Memorial Day parades, and space in the Georgian Terrace was rented by the inch.

When, if ever, a successor to "Gone With the Wind" is written, the author could pick no better period of the city's history in which to pitch his story than the days when Atlanta was the musical capital of the nation for one week each year.

And if that should come to pass—referring to the imaginary book again—I hope the writer will recount, among other things, how at an opera party at the club a certain newspaper man (who shall be nameless, but who is the boss), encouraged and abetted by a man from Savannah panoplied with a quart of Scotch, brought about the downfall of Chaliapin from the water wagon, on which he claimed to have ridden for 10 years.

"For 10 years I do not drink; now I drink to liberty!" (Note: Beer to Chaliapin did not come under the head of drink.)

Those are days and nights Atlanta opera addicts still dream of along about this time of year. A return of the festival would go far towards drowning the recollection of the depression and make us feel like we were getting back to normalcy. Although there will be no Caruso or Farar or Mr. Peel, and a strangely modern auditorium will house the show, the old timers will realize how much they have missed it only when they see it again.

SOMERVELL BACKS FLORIDA SHIP CANAL

Construction Chief Denies Shipping Companies Are Uninterested.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—Lieutenant Colonel Somervell, who directed the government's preliminary expenditures of $5,400,000 for a ship canal across Florida, defended the controversial project today against assertions shipping companies were not interested in its completion.

He told the house rivers and harbors committee it was not surprising many shippers said they would not use the waterway if the government completes it.

They said the same thing, he declared, about the Panama canal, the Houston canal and many other waterways.

The engineer's statement, incomplete when the committee recessed overnight, followed a bitter attack on the project by Representative Peterson of Florida. Peterson questioned the authority of Major General Markham, chief of army engineers, to reverse an unfavorable canal report filed by the War Department's river and harbor board.

Peterson said it was clear the 1902 law setting up the board intended for that body to be the "supreme court" on waterway projects.

The chief of engineers, he said, is authorized only to transmit the board's report, adding his own comments.

EX-STATE OFFICIAL MAY FACE COURT

State Law Department May Sue Former Treasurer Daniel.

Officials of the state Department of Law said yesterday they were studying a report of State Auditor Tom Wisdom to determine whether or not suits shall be filed against J. B. (Toke) Daniel, Talmadge appointed state treasurer, as the result of alleged illegal transfers of funds during the Talmadge administration.

No member of the state's legal staff would comment for publication but it was said one item, for $18,000 transferred from the Highway Department to the Military Department was under scrutiny.

It was said no action will be taken pending orders from Governor Rivers who is out of the city.

Daniel was bonded by a Fort Scott, Kan., company and it is understood friends of former Governor Talmadge placed $200,000 in cash with the surety before the bond was posted. Whether or not that money still is available to the bonding company is not known.

FIRST-AID STATION TO BE DEDICATED

Second Highway Station for County Located on Stewart Avenue.

Fulton county's second Red Cross highway first aid station will be dedicated Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the intersection of Stewart avenue and Persimmon road.

The Atlanta Pilot Club, sponsor of the undertaking, has designated Miss Juliet Dowling, civic chairman, to deliver the dedicatory address. The Atlanta Red Cross chapter will be represented in the exercises by General James H. Reeves, chairman; Ernest Scott, general first-aid chairman; Paul Huff, highway first-aid chairman, and Mrs. Ann Byrd Baughan, executive secretary.

The first highway first aid station in the county was opened several months ago on McDonough boulevard.

Members of the staff of the E. P. Harrison service station, which is located at the intersection, have been given the necessary first-aid instruction by A. H. Hembree, Red Cross first-aid officer. Equipment was donated by the Pilot Club.

Wind Blown Smoke Brings Fire Trucks

When the wind blows Atlantans think the city hall is burning down, Glenn Dewberry, superintendent of the building, reported yesterday.

The fire department has received calls four times recently that the city hall was on fire. "The wind blows the smoke from the furnace around the penthouse and from a distance it looks like a fire," Dewberry said. The city hall is a fire-proof building, he said.

Switch TO ELECTRICAL APPLIANCES NOW

They Cost Less to Own--- Less to Run

Do what hundreds of Georgia families are doing--- go electrical and save! Every day new hundreds of people buy ELECTRIC Ranges, Water Heaters, and Refrigerators. Why? Because they know these electrical appliances will actually cut their household expenses—save them money—just as they are doing in thousands and thousands of Georgia homes daily.

Read the examples of such savings in this advertisement. They will give you a good idea of how little it will cost you to switch to clean Electric Cookery... convenient Electric Water Heating... trouble-free Electric Refrigeration.

Today's lower prices and easier terms, PLUS 1937's new low electric rates, make it cheaper than ever for you to own and use these modern appliances in your home. See the 1937 models on display at our store.

"BETTER LIGHT—BETTER SIGHT" for my home costs less than 1¢ a night," says a mother who believes in doing all she can to safeguard precious eyes. I. E. S. Lamps give 3 to 5 times more light—softly spread over a wider area. Priced as low as $3.20.

"I Can't Notice Any Difference in my electric bills since adding my washer," a happy housewife relates. No wonder—because the most it costs the average family is 6¢ a month to run, and that's dirt cheap. See the new A. B. C. Washer, as low as $3.95 down, $2.24 a month.

You Need Hot Water In The Summer Too! The best way is to have an Automatic Electric Water Heater in your home to supply all you want. No fuss, no bother. Costs on the average only $2.30 a month to run. Ask about the small down payment and easy terms.

Says this housewife whose electric bills averaged less than $1.15 a month. Electric Refrigeration gives you so much for so little. For just 6¢ a day this housewife enjoys SAFE, DEPENDABLE refrigeration 24 hours a day. Food bills in her home have been cut, because she buys in larger quantities and there is no loss from spoilage. In addition, she gets all the ice she ever needs WITHOUT EXTRA COST! This case tells you how little Electric Refrigeration will cost you! See the new Kelvinator illustrated above, priced as low as $3.50 down, $2.86 a month.

ELECTRIC RANGES Cost Mighty Little to Run Too!

Says a thrifty housewife whose monthly electric bills averaged $2.93. That should give you an idea of how cheaply you can cook this modern, better way. If you take pride in your cooking, then you'll get a triple-thrill out of cooking electrically. For you will not only save money, and time, but your food will taste better and look nicer. Just ask a friend how much better she likes her Electric Range. You can have a table-top Hotpoint Electric Range for just $69.50 cash and your old stove.

"My Electric Bills averaged $1.67 a month before I bought my new G-E. Now I pay only $1.58 a month more. So you see, Electric Refrigeration costs me just about 5¢ a day." Food savings alone will pay for running your Electric Refrigerator. If the General Electric, above, for $5.50 down, $4.40 a month does not suit you, there is a model and price that will

"It paid me to switch to an Electric Range," says this housewife whose electric bills averaged $3.41 a month, "because it cut my cooking cost to $2.50 a month and cut my kitchen hours in half!" In addition to these advantages, Electric Cookery is fast, convenient, and spotlessly clean. Now it is easy for you to own a beautiful Hotpoint Electric Range on terms as low as $3.50 down, $2.22 a month. See this new model Hotpoint Electric Range.

WORKERS TO VOTE ON UAW AS AGENT IN PACKARD PLANT

National Labor Relations To Conduct Balloting in Michigan Firm.

DETROIT, April 27.—(AP)—The United Automobile Workers of America was involved in six strikes in Michigan tonight, on the eve of a government-conducted election to determine whether the union shall be the sole bargaining agency for Packard Motor Car Company employees.

The election will be the first held in the automobile industry by the National Labor Relations Board since the Wagner act was upheld by the United States supreme court.

Fourteen thousand eight hundred hourly employees are eligible to vote. Polls will be open at the plant from 8 a. m. Wednesday until 1 a. m. Thursday. The ballots will be counted under the supervision of Frank H. Bowen, regional director of the Labor Relations Board.

Meanwhile the national executive board of the UAW adopted a resolution calling for the establishment of city central bodies and state labor federations of Committee for Industrial Organization affiliates.

The resolution said "The American Federation of Labor has assumed bureaucratic control of state federations and city central bodies to the extent of ordering the expulsion of the UAW and other CIO local unions."

Most important of the strikes involving the UAW was that at the Parke, Davis & Co. pharmaceutical plant, where 250 sit-down strikers were evicted yesterday.

Company officials said that 1,000 of the 2,100 employees were back at work today. A picket line of 200 marched in front of the plant.

THREE MEN INJURED IN STRIKE RIOTING
CONNEERSVILLE, Ind., April 27.—(AP)—Three men were injured in a rioting which followed the calling of a strike at the Rex Manufacturing Company by the United Automobile Workers of America.

Several hundred plant workers, members of the Cabinet and Refrigerator Workers of America Association, refused to join the UAW members in the strike and remained in the plant.

The fighting started when UAW pickets, armed with clubs, gathered around the plant and prevented approximately 500 night shift employees from going to work. Work was resumed after the company granted a wage increase, established a standard work week and recognized the UAW as the sole bargaining agency for members of that union.

AGREEMENT REACHED IN COAL MINE STRIKE
CENTRAL CITY, Ky., April 27.—(AP)—Officials of District 23, United Mine Workers of America, announced today a subcommittee representing operators and miners had reached an agreement on wages, hours and working conditions affecting approximately 8,500 miners in the western Kentucky field.

The agreement will be placed before the full committee for ratification tomorrow. Its approval would send UAWA members back to the mines for the first time since April 2, when they joined in a nation-wide agreement.

PROGRESS REPORTED TO END SHOE STRIKE
AUBURN, Maine, April 27.—(UP)—Federal Conciliator Thomas J. Williams reported "distinct progress" in negotiations to settle the problem of when "consent elections" should be held in strike-bound Lewiston and Auburn shoe factories, at close of a 12-hour conference at 10:45 tonight.

Swimming Way to Linguistic Learning in Pool at Emory University

Studying German at Emory isn't so boring and tiresome as some would have you believe. Atlanta Centennial Plan To Be Outlined

Program for Atlanta's celebration of its centennial year will be outlined Tuesday by the centennial commission, Wilbur Kurtz, chairman, asserted yesterday following a meeting of the executive committee of the commission.

Present plans call for beginning the celebration on July 4, the date when, 100 years ago, Stephen Harriman Long, engineer, drove the stake for the railroad terminus that grew to be Atlanta. The celebration will continue until late fall, with many events of signal interest to be staged depicting the city's 100-year history.

Chairman Kurtz said yesterday that Congressman Robert Ramspeck is pushing a bill through congress to authorize coinage of 25,000 half-dollar pieces memorializing Atlanta. The coins are to be sold at a premium and the proceeds invested in commemorating the centennial.

no payments have been ordered since that time.

In addition to the dividend and earnings news Wall Street scanned with interest the report of the chairman, Myron C. Taylor, showing operations for the three months, measured in production of finished products, were at the rate of 82.6 per cent of capacity, with the rate increasing as the quarter progressed.

Shipments of 3,998,041 tons were at 82.8 per cent of capacity, compared with 2,144,570, or 45.5 per cent a year ago. Materials for capital goods consumption continued somewhat below those for consumer goods, Taylor said.

Growth of employment was indicated by figures showing that 246,321 workers were on the pay rolls during the period compared with 198,269 in the like quarter of 1936. Their pay ran to $104,456,482 against $69,259,055, an increase of 50.8 per cent.

The dividends ordered today are payable May 29 to shareholders of record May 1.

Students Play Baseball, Tennis, Swim in Order To Learn German

Emory University Classes Adapt Actual Living Conditions to Study of Teuton Language; Talking Movies Aid Pronunciation.

How would you like to study in a swimming pool, attend classes on a tennis court, attend a concert instead of a lecture, and learn to play baseball while studying the day's lesson?

And they are not classes in physical education or fine arts; it's just the Emory University department of German trying to present an old subject in a new way.

When the students swim, they talk in German and learn the German names for the different dives and strokes; and by the time they have played a few games of tennis or baseball, they could hold their own in an argument with a German referee—or they flunk the course.

"German is a live language and must be learned by living," according to Professor C. F. Hamf, head of the department. The purpose of the new method, he continued, is to acquaint the student with the vocabulary used in everyday activities in addition to the literary language.

Referring to the War Department supply measure, the speaker said:

He predicted the aggregate of appropriations this session would be substantially under the President's budget estimate.

Representative Gifford, Massachusetts Republican, expressed skepticism about administration talk of cutting outlays, terming it "just a spasm of economy."

Although the army's appropriation exceeded the amount available for the current fiscal year by $25,037,598, it was $358,079 below the budget estimate.

The measure made no provision, however, for non-military projects such as river and harbor improvements usually carried out by the army engineers.

Officials said a separate bill would be sent to the house floor in about three weeks to provide for these projects, explaining the separation was decided upon because they had no connection with national defense. The budget recommends about $195,000,000 for such work, compared with $190,000,000 voted last year.

HOLY FATHER SUFFERS SLIGHT HEART ATTACK
VATICAN CITY, April 27.—(AP)—Pope Pius suffered a slight heart attack today but remains determined to conduct his customary Wednesday reception for newly-married couples tomorrow.

Sources close to the 79-year-old pontiff discredited the attack followed his luncheon. At the same time he complained of the return of light pains in his legs.

Each student in the department is required to have a hobby, and he must learn the entire "language cycle" of this hobby. One student and his bride-to-be took love for their cycle, and then studied the German vocabulary for marriage. At least, they could argue without the neighbors getting the whole story.

Talking movies in German have been shown the class to develop better pronunciation, and every month a supper is held with a guest speaker, at which songs are sung in German and impromptu debates are staged.

Today the class is planning even greater "living." Led by Sam Shiver, instructor in the department, the classes will take a botany trip, leaving the campus before breakfast and learning the names of all the birds, flowers, trees and plants encountered along the way. And unless they can say "bacon and eggs" in German, they won't get any breakfast.

GOVERNORS PLAN RAIL RATE FIGHT

authors have agreed to hold their bills in abeyance pending determination of the exact course to be followed as a result of today's conference.

Georgia Backing.
Closing his address, in which he outlined his purpose in calling the conference, Governor Rivers declared that "this question of freight rates being governmental. I think it perfectly proper that leaders in the government, as well as in business, should take a lead in helping bring about this much-desired change."

"We don't want an advantage over the rest of the country," the Georgia executive said, "but we do not want to continue with a disadvantage to the rest of the country. The only reason that anybody could possibly justify the discriminatory rates against the south is because its traffic destiny is less."

"We have tried all these years to increase our traffic density under the present handicap, without success. The only way to increase the traffic density is to attract and develop industry in the south, to produce traffic for the railroads. This cannot be done until the rates are adjusted."

Premise Unsound.
"Therefore, the whole premise is unsound when you propose to leave the rates high until traffic picks up, when what we should be doing is lower the rates so as to develop industry. This has been strikingly evidenced in the reduction of passenger rates."

"If the ICC or congress will put the south on a parity with the rest of the country in freight rates, we will put our average income on a par with the average income of any state in the nation."

"What the discriminatory freight rate actually does is set up a tariff between states, a tariff which is much more disastrous to the south than the Smoot-Hawley tariff was to the country. Such artificial rates are now in existence which have every requirement for prosperity and happiness save the one thing—equality in the cost of transportation. It is better for the whole country that every section be prosperous."

Local Markets.
"In so far as markets are concerned, the general development in the south automatically raises purchasing power in that section and will create local markets."

"However, local markets cannot entirely displace the output and it is necessary to have equitable freight rates in order to reach outlying markets at home and foreign markets broad. The question of markets will automatically take care of itself with an equitable freight rate for the south."

"In so far as reasonable taxes and reasonably regulatory laws are concerned, it would take me too long to dwell on that, but any southern state can make out a good case for any prospective investor on these two points."

"This leaves, alone, the question of transportation. Having every requirement for industrial development to put our people on an average income basis with the rest of the country, except the one item of a fair and equitable freight rate, it does seem that with proper presentation of our case before the I. C. C. and proper consideration of our bill in congress, the south could get fair treatment."

Delegation Attends.
The entire Georgia congressional delegation left the capital to attend the conference. Present with Governor Rivers were Jud P. Wilhoit, chairman of the Georgia Public Service Commission and chairman of the Southern Railway, and the Georgia Commissioners of Agriculture, Commerce and Fisheries; Matt L. McWhorter and Walter R. McDonald, members of the Georgia commission, and John M. Cooper and Eugene L. Hart, the latter representing the Atlanta Freight Bureau.

Besides Governors Rivers and Graves, Governor Olin D. Johnston, South Carolina, and Governor Gordon Browning, Tennessee, were present in person. Other state chief executives sent representatives.

Those unable to be present wired their regrets and expressed themselves as favoring the movement inaugurated by the Georgia Governor.

Riches Not Needed For Excellent Towns

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—A leading psychologist said today that a town can be a fine place in which to live even though its citizens haven't much of this world's goods.

In fact, said Dr. Edward L. Thorndike, of Columbia University, wealth is only about one-half as important as the way people of a community choose to spend it.

"Having large incomes is less important than choosing to spend them in acquiring homes and educating children," he said. "The kind of population that is unselfish in its gifts for religion, that buys homes, makes good use of schools, and supports physicians, nurses and teachers, rather than male domestic servants, will make a good community, even without much wealth or income."

Doctor Is Quizzed IN DENHARDT CASE of the University of Louisville, was allowed to give the jury his estimate of the distance the death gun was held from the widow's body. Witnesses had testified Denhardt had expressed belief his fiancée killed herself.

On cross-examination, Dr. Miller admitted he knew "very little" about firearms; nothing about the effects of gases from various types of bullets, and had never seen or conducted a test on hogs before.

The doctor's estimate was based on his examination of the five pieces of meat cut from a hog's body into which bullets had been fired, and for two pieces of flesh taken from the body of the dead woman.

Dr. J. A. Kennedy, of the University of Louisville, an authority on blood, was called next. He testified examination of two spots on the general's overcoat showed them to be human blood. He said stains on the widow's underclothing also were human blood.

He was unable to determine to what group the blood on her slip or on the general's overcoat belonged.

The next state witness was F. C. Buckmaster, of Pittsburgh, Allegheny county chemist. He testified paraffin would remove particles of gun powder from person's hands. The commonwealth announced in its opening statement paraffin tests made shortly after Mrs. Taylor's body was found showed Denhardt had recently fired a weapon and that she had not.

AUTO WORKERS VOTE FOR CIO AS AGENCY
LOS ANGELES, April 27.—(UP)—Employees of the Willys-Overland automobile plant voted 374 to 66 on the basis of unofficial returns tonight to have the United Automobile Workers of America, CIO affiliate, represent them in collective bargaining with the management.

The minority vote was cast for the Willys-Overland Pacific Alliance of Automobile Workers.

STATE INCOME TAX KILLED IN FLORIDA

Resolution Supporting Canal Is Sidetracked by House.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., April 27.—(AP)—Proposals for a constitutional amendment to allow a state income tax in Florida were smothered by a house committee today and there appeared little likelihood of any further action.

Only two votes were cast for the resolutions. Florida amended its constitution in 1924 to prohibit the levy of an income tax. Opponents of a change now said wealth would be driven from the state.

A resolution urging upon congress immediate completion of the Florida ship canal was proposed today but house members shunted it aside.

DIVORCE AMENDMENT PROPOSED IN S. C.

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 27.—(AP)—Representative Bailey offered a bill in the house today proposing an amendment to eliminate the anti-divorce section.

South Carolina is the only state in the Union not recognizing divorce.

Flood receded at Pittsburgh after creeping up to the fringe of the downtown "golden triangle"; more than 400 were left homeless in suburban Sharpshurg and Etna; three railroad workers were killed by train, and a woman fell dead of heart disease when she was warned of the flood at Johnstown, which escaped with property damage of $100,000.

Virginia.
Richmond and Fredericksburg damaged by floods; two persons dead and five others feared drowned.

New York.
Chadokov river overflowed its banks at Jamestown, causing many families to leave their homes.

F. D. R. FLOOD FUND PLEA ATTACKED IN CONGRESS
WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt said today he expected congress to hold flood control appropriations within his $30,000,000 budget allowance.

His figure was immediately challenged as inadequate by Chairman Copeland, Democrat, New York, of the senate commerce committee, and Representative William J. Driver, Democrat, Arkansas, newly elected president of the National Rivers and Harbors Congress.

"Thirty million dollars," said Copeland, "would be just a flea bite." He said at least twice that sum is needed.

Negro Boy 'Drinks' Safety Razor Blade

MACON, Ga., April 27.—(AP)—Willy Lee Walker, 18-year-old negro shoe shine boy, complained of "indigestion" at a hospital today and diagnosed his own case as "razor blades."

"Razor blades!" exclaimed puzzled doctors.
"Yeah, I swallowed one," Willy told them.

The blade, of safety razor variety, was in the bottom of a glass. He took a drink out of the glass without removing it.

"It thought it would stay in the bottom of the glass," the patient said as the X-ray machines were warmed up, but it floated into m' mouth and the first thing I knew I'd swallowed it."

CONFEREES AGREE ON NEUTRALITY BILL

Measure Would Prohibit American Traveling on Belligerent Ship.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—Congressional conferees agreed today on permanent neutrality legislation which they hoped they could write on the statute books before the temporary law expires Saturday.

Under the agreement, which will be submitted to the house tomorrow and considered probably by both houses Thursday, the much-discussed "cash and carry" policy would be made subject to the discretion of the President, instead of mandatory as the senate bill provided.

The other discretionary provisions in the house bill were eliminated.

American travel on belligerent ships, and arming of American ships trading with belligerents would be automatically prohibited in time of war.

'Fair Warning' Opens Run at Georgia Today

The great desert lives up to its legend with sudden, overpowering romance and Death Valley lives up to its name with secret, terrifying murder as the world's most embarrassed detective, positive he can't solve a thing, rushes to the aid of love in Twentieth Century-Fox's modern mystery thriller, "Fair Warning," which opens today at the Georgia theater.

J. Edward Bromberg brings a refreshingly new and unusual type of detective to the screen in the role of Mr. Jericho, an apologetic, timid modern mystery hero in an American Magazine story, from which Norman Foster adapted the screen play.

Marking Foster's first directorial venture, the film also brings together a new romantic team, with Betty Furness and John Howard Payne lured by the spell of the desert into love at first sight, only to have their happy romance interrupted by the swift stroke of sudden death, when a millionaire guest is mysteriously murdered.

The plight of the horror-stricken guests seems hopeless when, after repeated attacks by the unknown killer, their plea for help is answered by an apparently ineffectual and timorous sleuth who himself declares his ineptitude for the dangerous task of catching the desperate criminal.

ACTIVITIES OF REDS IN AMERICA TOPIC OF V. F. W. OFFICIAL

Van Dyke, in Radio Speech, Stresses Value of Americanization Day.

More money is being spent more literature is being circulated and more organizational activity is being exerted by revolutionary Communists in the United States today than by both the Democratic and Republican parties during the "between campaign periods," W. H. Van Dyke, patriotic instructor of the department of Georgia of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, charged last night in a radio address as the V. F. W. observed its annual Americanization Day.

"The facts and truths about this situation must be told the American public," Van Dyke said, "and mere denunciation of this group will do no good. . . . mere hatred will not suffice.

"The true remedy for this problem is getting these truths to those who might otherwise be deceived," he added.

Communism has taken over the youngsters' May Day celebration and changed it from a day of festive gladness to a day of riots and

'Policeman,' 6, Asks Appointment Here

Youth must be served and Eugene Riley, 6 years old, of Dallas, Texas, has put in his application for a job on the Atlanta police force.

Eugene, who accompanied his uncle and aunt on their produce truck, arrived in the city yesterday, reported to police quarters and said he was "ready for work."

"I work on the police forces in all the cities we visit," he said. "I have been a policeman in San Antonio, Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Shreveport, Kansas City, Memphis, New Orleans, Mobile, Jacksonville and Chattanooga. Now I want to join the Atlanta force."

un-American demonstrations, Van Dyke said.

"May Day should be restored to its traditional place in our affections and the unpleasant ideas which Communism has recently attached to it should be removed," he stated.

Other speakers on the program were Mayor Hartsfield and Judge James C. Davis, chairman of the Americanism committee of the Georgia American Legion posts.

Americanization Day has been observed by V. F. W. units in Georgia since 1921.

Frank Greene, past commander of the Georgia V. F. W., presided.

U. S. MARKETS GAIN

Latin American Buying Is Noted by Official.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 27.—(AP)—Robert Sevey, chief of the district office service of the United States Department of Commerce, told interviewers today of Latin-American markets gains by United States manufacturers.

"All through Latin America our representatives are reporting that buyers there are unable to secure satisfactory prices and delivery dates from the usual sources of supplies in Europe due to the fact that so many European countries are busy supplying their own domestic markets because of the rearmament situation," Sevey said.

"Another major cause of this shift in trade is the very intelligent good neighbor policy of President Roosevelt and Secretary of State Cordell Hull."

EX-GOVERNOR SEEKS TO SUCCEED BACHMAN

NASHVILLE, April 27.—(AP)—Albert H. Roberts, Governor of Tennessee from 1919 to 1921, announced today as an applicant to succeed the late Senator Nathan L. Bachman and said he is "in full sympathy and accord" with President Roosevelt's program.

He filed his application in the office of Governor Browning, who is expected to fill the senate vacancy upon his return from a Washington freight rate conference late in the week. Roberts was a staunch supporter of Browning in the latter's primary and election campaigns.

ARMY SOON TO TEST STRATOSPHERE PLANE

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(UP)—Tests of the United States army's first "stratosphere plane," designed to fly at altitudes of 25,000 feet or more, will be undertaken shortly, the War Department announced today.

The army air corps officially dubbed the new plane a "high altitude flying laboratory" in which a crew of six will make a practical study of the many technical and physiological problems involved in sub-stratosphere flying. The preliminary tests will be carried out at Burbank, Cal., and the final tests at Wright Field, Ohio, the army's proving grounds for newly acquired airplanes.

$481,806,000 LISTED IN DEPOSITS IN STATE

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—An abstract of the combined condition of the 262 insured commercial banks in Georgia released today by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation showed total resources of the banks on December 31, 1936, amounted to $481,806,000.

STATE DEATHS

GLEN ROBERTS.
LAWRENCEVILLE, Ga., April 27.—Funeral services were planned to be held here for Glen Roberts, 41, formerly of Lawrenceville, who died Sunday night in Griffin.

He is survived by his widow, two children, his mother, Mrs. William Roberts; two sisters, Mrs. Louie Fowler and Mrs. Evie Burel, both of Lawrenceville; and one brother, Raleigh Roberts, of Arkansas.

A. C. AIKEN.
JACKSON, Ga., April 27.—Rites will be held at 2 o'clock, central standard time, Wednesday afternoon at Northville Baptist church, near here, for A. C. Aiken, 52, of Spaulding street, who died Tuesday afternoon in an Atlanta hospital.

He is survived by his widow, one brother, D. H. Aiken, of Atlanta, and a sister, Mrs. V. C. Ellington, of Decatur.

THOMAS S. HAYES.
ELBERTON, Ga., April 27.—The body of Thomas S. Hayes, 38, who died in Tampa, Fla., last night, will be brought to Elberton for funeral services and interment Wednesday.

He is survived by his father, Z. C. Hayes, of Elberton; one brother, the Rev. Z. C. Hayes, pastor of the Methodist Methodist church, and a sister, Miss Hanson Hayes, a student at Wesleyan.

MISS FANNY M. BARNES.
INDIAN SPRINGS, Ga., April 27.—Funeral services for Miss Fanny May Barnes, 77, who died Saturday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Belle Board, were held at the residence Sunday, the Rev. Mr. Harrison, of the Jackson Baptist church, officiating. Burial was in Mount Vernon cemetery.

Mrs. Barnes, a native of Butts county, had lived for many years in Florida before moving here about four years ago. She was survived by her daughter, one grandson and many other relatives.

JOHN J. SWAIN.
LAGRANGE, Ga., April 27.—John J. Swain, 80, lifelong resident of Lagrange died at the residence on the Rosanville road Monday morning after an illness of several weeks. Funeral services were conducted Tuesday morning at the funeral chapel of Hunter and Owen, with Dr. W. E. Howard, pastor of the First Baptist church, officiating. Burial was in Hillview.

One of Lagrange's oldest citizens, Mr. Swain for many years was prominently identified with the city's business and social activities, but ill health several years ago made retirement necessary and for the past quarter-century he had been engaged in farming.

His only survivors are a niece, Mrs. O. B. Yates, of Lincolnville, Ala., and a nephew, T. W. Anderson, of Detroit, Michigan.

Women's Clubs Will Take Part In State Affairs

TULSA, Okla., April 27.—(AP)—Councilwomen of the American Federation of Women's Clubs set the stage today for their own club election campaigns, with balloting to take place a year hence, after serving notice they had a real stake in state and national affairs and proposed to do something about it.

A list of candidates announced unofficially was headed by Mrs. Saidee Orr Dunbar, of Portland, Ore., for the presidency to succeed Mrs. Roberta Campbell Lawson, of Tulsa.

A delay today prevented first reading of a resolution on the President's plan for reorganization of the federal judiciary.

It will be read tomorrow, with a vote Friday following a debate Thursday night between Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana, opponent, and Assistant Attorney General Joseph B. Keenan, proponent, of the court plan.

A resolution against "Communist and other subversive influences being promulgated in our institutions of learning" was presented by Mrs. T. W. Grimley, Ridgewood, N. J.

Other resolutions would put the council on record for conservation of natural resources through support of a federal forestry program, strict enforcement of immigration laws and compulsory studies in crime prevention and character building.

U. S. ASKS CLEMENCY FOR CITIZEN IN REICH

BERLIN, April 27.—(AP)—United States Consul Raymond H. Geist today visited the German ministry of justice and presented a clemency plea for Helmut Hirsch, 21-year-old Jew, sentenced to death on charges of violating the explosives law.

Because his grandfather was naturalized in the United States, Hirsch, who has never been in the United States, has American citizenship.

Geist emphasized the prisoner's youth and previous good record. It probably will be 10 days before Chancellor Hitler's decision is known.

Stomach Gas So Bad Seems To Hurt Heart

"The gas on my stomach was so bad I could not eat or sleep. Even my heart seemed to hurt. A friend suggested Adlerika. The first dose I took brought me relief. Now I eat as I wish, sleep fine and never feel better."

—Mrs. Jas. Filler.
Adlerika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowels while ordinary laxatives act on the lower bowel only. Adlerika gives your system a thorough cleansing, bringing out old, poisonous matter that you would not believe was in your system and that has been causing gas pains, sour stomach, nervousness and headaches for months.

Dr. H. L. Shush, New York, reports: "In addition to intestinal cleansing, Adlerika greatly reduces bacteria and colon bacilli." Give your bowels a REAL cleansing with Adlerika and see how good you feel. Just one small relief. Relieves gas and stubborn constipation. At all leading

Irish Horse Traders' Clan Gathers For Annual Funeral Rites Today

More Than Thousand Nomads of Today Come to Services for 12-Year-Old Boy Who Died in Albany, Ga., Last August.

Descendants of the eight original families of the Irish Horse Traders, the Rileys, McNamoras, Carrolls, Sherlocks, Gormans, Costellos, Darts and O'Haras, will assemble in Atlanta today to bury their dead and begin their annual spring reunion.

Tradition more than 50 years old has it that the clan converges on Atlanta on April 28 each year for the annual ceremonies and then moves on to Nashville for additional services, scheduled for May 1.

Funeral services will be held this morning for Mike O'Hara, 12, who died in Albany, Ga., last August 25.

Services will be held at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at 9:30 o'clock, with Father Joseph Smith officiating. Burial will be in West View cemetery under the direction of Brandon, Bond and Condon.

The leaders of the mule trading group will then pack their wares and move on to Nashville where, on Saturday, they will pay final tribute to one of the group's old-timers, James Carroll, 72, who died in Dillsboro, Ind., on May 27.

Families of the Irish Travelers' Clan are widely separated for most of the year. Whenever or wherever one of their group dies burial is postponed until April 28 in Atlanta or on May 1 in Nashville, the two headquarters of the clan.

More than 1,000 are expected for the rites today. Early arrivals in the city went about their business of buying and selling horses and mules yesterday.

In former years the clan traveled about the nation in covered wagons, but now they use automobiles and trailers.

After the burials, the couples engage during the year—and they must marry within the clan—are married.

The meeting of these families in Atlanta and Nashville is their only reunion during the year.

MODEL TOWN VOTES FOR BEER SALE, BUT—

NORRIS, Tenn., April 27.—(AP) Residents of this model town voted, 184 to 103, today in favor of the sale of beer. The referendum, however, does not settle the issue, for the matter now will be referred to the town council for action and finally to the Tennessee Valley Authority directors, Drs. A. E. and H. A. Morgan and David E. Lillenthal, for approval.

If approved by the TVA directors, the matter will be referred back to the town council for specific regulation concerning the sale.

Atlantans Included Among Guests Attending Smart Party in Capital

By Sally Forth.

ATLANTA society will be represented at the brilliant party at which Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Robert will be hosts next Saturday evening in the national capital by Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson, Mrs. Ewell Gay, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cox and Jackson Dick.

Mrs. Gay leaves Wednesday for Washington to remain until after the Robert party as the guest of her friend, Mrs. Campbell Pritchett, whom Atlantans recall as the former Natalie Campbell, who has visited Mrs. Gay here frequently.

Society editors in the national capital predict that the Robert party will be one of the most gala scheduled for the spring season. Villa Rosa, handsome estate of Mrs. Robert's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker, will form the setting for the colorful occasion which invitations announce as complimentary.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Stotesbury and Mr. and Mrs. James Cromwell. Mrs. Cromwell is the former Doris Duke, heiress to the great tobacco fortune.

Sally Forth is informed that Villa Rosa lends itself magnificently for entertaining, especially a large number of guests, such as the Robert party, to which 400 invitations have been issued.

Plans for the affair call for the spacious drawing room to be left intact where the guests will be received formally by the hosts. Supper will be served in the long lounge room and the dining room turned over for dancing with the addition of the adjoining terrace and the Italian gardens.

"It is rumored that champagne will be the only beverage served at the party, which, in addition to being Mrs. Robert's favorite drink, makes any affair de luxe."

WHEN Sally Forth heard that Tallulah Bankhead plays here on May 4-5 in her successful vehicle, "Reflected Glory," at the Erlanger theater, she argued with herself that surely there was a reason for the selection of the given name of the famous Southern actress.

And for that reason a telegram was dispatched to Speaker Bankhead, the distinguished father of Tallulah, who hails from Alabama, but spends most of his time in Washington, D. C.

Pretty soon the wires were humming with the answer to Sally Forth's telegram, and sure enough there is quite an interesting story relative to the bestowal of the name upon the charming actress.

Speaker Bankhead says his daughter, Tallulah, is named after his grandmother on his mother's side. Tallulah's great-grandmother visited Tallulah Falls, in Rabun county, Georgia, and was so delighted with the grandeur and beauty of the falls, she named her daughter Tallulah.

"My wife," declared Speaker Bankhead, "who was Tallulah Brockman, liked the name so well, that we gave the same name to Tallulah."

PAGES of history were turned back yesterday when Mrs. John K. Ottley entertained at luncheon for Mrs. Anne Wallace Howland. The guests, all well informed on historical research of Atlanta, which has been recently revived, found much to discuss both from their own knowledge and from their work which has brought them wide recognition. The center of the beautifully appointed table was graced with a round open work basket of brown reeds dating from 1867 which belonged to the hostess's mother. It was filled with unusual and lovely French flowers fashioned as coast sprays and which were given as favors to each guest. The flowers, in pastel shades, topped the basket and gave an effective floral motif for the decorations.

Invited for the affair in addition to Mrs. Howland, who for the past few years has been head of the library training school at Drexel Institute in Philadelphia, were Louise Dooley, of Asheville, N. C.; Sallie Mae Aiken, of Macon; Jessie Hopkins, Ruth Blair Tommie Dora Barker, Ella Mae Thornton, Beverly Wheatcroft, Mrs. Frank Neely and Mrs. Frank O. Foster.

Druid Hills W. M. S. Hears Reports.

Splendid reports giving information and news of wide significance were heard at the April meeting of the Druid Hills Methodist W. M. S. Mrs. Howell Cope-land who was the auxiliary's delegate to the annual meeting of the North Georgia conference in Griffin gave an outline of the accomplishments of the conference during 1936 as presented in pagentry and addresses. She also presented the aims for 1937 with the instructions received to "Begin Anew."

Mrs. Edgar N. Good who attended the annual session of the Woman's Missionary Council in Columbia, S. C., gave a resume of the inspirational features of that meeting giving a quotation from each of the council officers and the three bishops, Bishop Arthur Moore, Bishop Paul B. Kern and Bishop Frances B. McConnell who participated in the program.

Dr. John B. Peters, pastor of Druid Hills church, gave the devotional on "Achievements of World Evangelism," linking his talk with the program there for the year, "Christian Missions On the March."

Miss Mildred Eaves Is Honor Guest.

Mrs. Tom W. Reeves and Mrs. Joel F. Pruett were hostesses recently at a luncheon in honor of Miss Mildred Eaves, whose marriage to Frank M. Kelley will take place May 15.

Guests present were Misses Frankie Smith, Caroline Hall, Jean Farrell, Dot Sturges, Mesdames Garnett Carter, Bertie McConnell, Frank B. Eaves, W. D. Mobley, William MacCary, the honor guest, Miss Eaves, and the hostesses, Mrs. Reeves and Mrs. Pruett.

Other parties have been planned to honor Miss Eaves and Mr. Kelley. Mrs. William MacCary and Mrs. Charlie Donnelly will give a tea on Saturday at Mrs. Donnelly's home in West End. Mrs. L. J. Gray, aunt of the bride-elect, will entertain with a buffet supper on May 14 to honor Miss Eaves and her fiancé following the wedding rehearsal.

Davis—Abner.

THOMASVILLE, Ga., April 27. Miss Bernice Mae Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davis, of this city, was married to Hubert Clyde Abner, of Albany, Ga., the ceremony being performed at the First Baptist church by Rev. Mack Anthony, pastor of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Paul Davis, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Misses Madeline Pettigrew, Josie Davis and Mary Julia Thigpen. Paul Davis, brother of the bride, was best man, and groomsmen were James Meadows, Quinten Tillman, Oscar Davis Jr. and Ferguson Davis, and ushers were Paul Searcy and Norman Stegall.

The bride and groom left on a wedding tour, after which they will reside in Albany, where the groom is connected with the Southern Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Abner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Abner, of Lineville, Ala.

Stripland—Wheeler.

CUMMING, Ga., April 27.—The marriage of Miss Edith Stripland to Ivan Wheeler took place on June 11, 1935, at Cincinnati, Ohio. The marriage was solemnized by Rev. A. W. Kelsier.

Mrs. Wheeler is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Stripland, of Cumming, and Mr. Wheeler is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wheeler, also of Cumming.

This young couple is residing with the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Wheeler.

SLAYER, 19, SEEKS WIDOW'S PARDON

Tennessee Youth, in 'Death Row,' Would Like Woman To Call.

NASHVILLE, April 27.—(P)—Nineteen-year-old William Farmer, of Knoxville, told penitentiary guards today he "would like to talk to" Mrs. J. K. Billiken, widow of the man he and Howard Dunn killed, before the electric chair takes his life Friday at dawn.

"I don't guess she'll come out here," Farmer said in his cell on "death row," but I'd like to tell her I'm sorry and get her to forgive me before I go."

Farmer and Dunn, also a Knoxville youth, are scheduled to go to their death together for the robbery and killing of Milliken, 47-year-old state marketing official, 13 months ago.

They kidnaped him in downtown Nashville, drove him in his own car to the outskirts of the city. They admitted robbing him of $14 and then shooting him twice in the head.

KLASSNER CONFIRMED.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(P)—The senate confirmed today the nomination of Howard J. Klassner, of Minnesota, to be a member of the board of directors of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Miss Adele Brown Becomes Bride Of Mr. Kilgo at Chapel Rites

Miss Adele Brown became the bride of Marvin M. Kilgo, of Atlanta and Fort Valley, at a ceremony taking place at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the chapel of the First Baptist church. Dr. Ellis A. Fuller officiated, and Frank A. Sewell, vocalist, accompanied at the piano by Herbert Clarke, presented a musical program. The chapel was decorated with palms interspersed with two baskets of white gladioli, snapdragons and ferns. A large cathedral candelabra holding lighted tapers centered the greenery.

Mrs. Daniel Burns Buchanan was her sister's matron of honor and only attendant. She was gowned in a light green sheer crepe featuring shirring in the front. Her hat was a lacquered model of natural straw and her flowers were a rainbow bouquet of snapdragons, roses and spring flowers.

Ushers were Calvin Kytie, Dan Buchanan and Williamham Michael, Jack Marion Greene was the ring-bearer.

The bride entered with her brother, Hugh J. Brown, by whom she was given in marriage. They were met at the altar by the groom and his brother, Sydney L. Kilgo, who was best man.

The bride wore a beige crepe dress with full three-quarter length coat. The gown featured a beige lace yoke and a ribbon bow-knot extending in streamers to the hem of the skirt in front. Her hair was a small beige straw trimmed in brown, and her other accessories were brown. She carried a bouquet of Tallman roses and valley lilies.

Mr. Kilgo and his bride left after the ceremony for a wedding trip by motor to Washington, D. C. Upon their return they will reside with the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel J. Brown, at their home on Durant place.

Medical Society Auxiliary Meets For Supper on Thursday Evening

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Fifth District Medical Society will meet on Thursday at 7 o'clock, at the Academy of Medicine on Prescott street, a buffet supper at which members of the Fifth District Medical Society and their wives will be guests preceding the semi-annual business and program meeting.

Dr. H. Cliff Sauls, president of the Fulton County Medical Society, will extend greetings to the auxiliary and will introduce Dr. E. C. Hamblen, associate professor of obstetrics and gynecology at Duke University in Durham, N. C., who speaks on "The Endocrine Glands, their Role in Physical and Sexual Development."

Dr. Olin S. Cofer, president of the Fifth District Medical Society, will introduce Dr. Porter P. Vinson, professor of bronchology, esophagology and gastroscopy at the Medical College of Virginia, Richmond, Va., who speaks on "The Price of Ambition."

Following the program a business session will be held and reports heard from Mrs. Charles E. Boynton, president of the woman's auxiliary to the Fulton County Medical Society, and the officers of the fifth district auxiliary, who are Mrs. Eustace Allen, president; Mrs. W. W. Anderson, vice president; Mrs. D. Henry Poer, secretary; Mrs. J. Harry Lange Jr., publicity chairman, and Mrs. N. M. Owensby, scrapbook chairman.

The purpose of the auxiliary is to extend authentic health education to lay organizations; to supply informed speakers on health subjects, and to assist the medical society in entertaining the district meeting.

Friendship Day.

"Friendship Day" will be celebrated by the congregation of St. Luke's Episcopal church with a barbecue and picnic at the home of Mrs. Harry G. Poole Sr. on Cascade road May 1 from 4 to 9 o'clock.

There will be swimming, ponies for the smaller children to ride, dancing to a well-known orchestra, horseshoe pitching and contests. Movies will be made of all who attend for the permanent records of the parish. This is the first of the picnics which members of St. Luke's Episcopal church plan to make an annual event, bringing the congregation into closer friendship with each other.

Tickets may be secured through Mrs. P. G. Hanahan or Mrs. Peyre Gaillard.

Ewing-Hunter Rites Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Ewing announce the marriage of their daughter, Doris Lorena, to Clarence Edward Hunter, of Clarkston, formerly of Crawfordville. The ceremony took place quietly Saturday at the home of Rev. C. R. Stauffer, pastor of the First Christian church.

The bride was attired in a traveling ensemble of navy blue sheer with a contrasting shade of lighter blue. Her hat was an off-the-face model of navy blue meteor straw, and her accessories were of navy. Her flowers were orchids and valley lilies.

Mrs. Hunter attended North Avenue Presbyterian school and graduated from Druid Hills High school. She also attended Bessie Tift College. Mr. Hunter is a graduate of Alexander Stephens Institute.

The couple left for a motor trip and will reside at 902 Springdale road.

Margaret Glenn Celebrates Birthday.

Miss Margaret Glenn, attractive young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Glenn, was central figure Monday at the party given by her mother at her home on Ponce de Leon avenue.

The affair assembled 20 young guests, classmates of the honoree in the second grade of the Druid Hills school, who assembled to celebrate the honoree's eighth birthday anniversary. Little Miss Glenn received her guests wearing a becoming model of white organdie, and worn with a small corsage of spring flowers.

The lace-covered table in the dining room was centered with an exquisitely embossed cake, decorated with pink roses and topped with eight pink candles. Crystal bowls filled with pink roses and crystal candlesticks holding pink tapers added to the beauty of the decorations.

The home was decorated with pastel-shaded flowers. Games and contests were enjoyed by the guests, with Miss Betty Glenn, sister of the honoree, assisting in entertaining. Fans and crayons were given as favors for the girls and ships and masks were presented as souvenirs to the boys.

Chicken Luncheon.

The ladies of the Mercer Avenue Baptist church of College Park will serve a chicken luncheon in Sterchi's clubroom today from 11 o'clock to 3 o'clock. The public is invited.

Jordan-Foster.

Mrs. Evelyn Jordan, formerly of Sandersville, announces the marriage of her daughter, Evelyn, to Horace M. Foster, the marriage having been solemnized Wednesday, April 21, at the home of the bride on Ormond street.

Nature Garden Clubs Are Organized Here

The Nature Garden Clubs of Atlanta, affiliated with the School Garden Association of America and registered with the Junior Garden Clubs of America, were organized in January. This movement is sponsored by Miss Hattie Rainwater, the science supervisor of the elementary schools of this city.

Thirty schools have organized with a membership of 13,126. This membership now exceeds that of New York city, the former leader. The work in each school is directed by a counselor, and there is a school council which is composed of representatives from each class. From this group the following officers are elected: President, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and historian or scrapbook chairman. Each class holds weekly meetings, but a general meeting of the council is held monthly.

The object of this movement is to encourage children's clubs for the study of nature and skill in gardening, to the end that future citizens will appreciate and conserve through gardens their beautiful nature heritage.

President of the National School Garden Association of America is Dr. Willis A. Sutton, the superintendent of Atlanta schools.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By ELY CULBERTSON.
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst.

Presentation of the usual Gold Book installment has been postponed to make room for an important announcement regarding asking bids. Gold book installment will be resumed tomorrow.

ASKING BIDS.
Yesterday I announced that while asking bids have been proved perfect from a technical point of view, mass psychology and the inability of players to readjust their bidding habits have induced me to make two minor changes in the asking bid system. For the benefit of readers who missed yesterday's article I will briefly restate the first change.

With such bidding as: South, one heart; West, one spade; North, two spades. North's two-spade bid is put back to its original, traditional status of a cue bid, showing first-round spade control and a big hand. To make an asking bid in spades, North must jump one round and bid three spades.

The second change concerns a bidding sequence such as: South, one spade; West, pass; North, four clubs. As originally outlined, this four-club bid was an asking bid setting partner's suit as the agreed trump suit. The ingrained habits of millions of players, who had been using such a four-club bid for years as a pre-empt, sometimes led to tragedies, and I have, therefore, decided that this particular method of setting the trump suit shall be abandoned. In such bidding the four bid over an original one shall again be considered pre-emptive, not asking.

TODAY'S HAND.
Frank K. Perkins, one of New England's outstanding players and bridge writers, has a terrific grievance against red-headed feminine opponents. He was "fixed" to the Queen's taste by one such on the following hand:

The bidding:
North East South West
1 diamond Pass 2 no trump Pass
3 no trump Pass 4 no trump Pass
Frank's bete rouge was West, and, as her opening bid, produced the deuce of spades, with the most innocent expression imaginable. When East played the King declarer was given a serious problem. Naturally, he thought of the possibility that the deuce lead was not really a fourth best, but that was not his only worry by a long shot! To hold up the spade ace would risk a heart shift by East, and if the defenders got home as much as one heart trick and then shifted back to spades (if the vital diamond finesse were unsuccessful) the contract would be defeated. In that case it would be the heart trick, permitted by declarer's failure to grab the opening lead, that would be fatal. (Obviously, declarer could not afford to hold off the first trick and then put up the heart ace on a heart shift, because that would expose him to three heart losers if the diamond finesse failed.) So Frank decided to "believe" the woman with red hair and won't opening lead.

The diamond finesse lost to the king and, on the spade return, South had to listen to his outraged partner muttering something about a "sucker for red hair and a baby stare."

MY DAY

By Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Monday.—It was such glorious weather yesterday that I just sat in the sun and enjoyed it. I really read the book I brought back from Charleston last old rice plantation days, went over all the pictures in it again and liked them better than on my first inspection.

I have been thinking a great deal about the peace meetings which young people held all over the country on April 22. From the letters I receive and from the talks which I have had, there is no question in my mind that young people are definitely determined to do away with war, but they really are very indefinite as to the way in which it shall be done.

I often wonder if they realize that every new form of government, Fascism, Communism or our own democracy, originally had for its purpose the making of a world in which people could be happy and content. As individuals, people felt helpless to accomplish their desires, and so, in different places, they were led to believe, by various types of people, that these desires could be accomplished in different ways.

To me the real strength of the democratic theory, in opposition to Fascism or Communism, is that Fascism frankly states certain people will tell other people what they shall do to be happy, and those people have nothing or little to say about it.

In theory the Communists are to do everything in common, in practice a small group also tells other people what they shall do to achieve their objectives. So far, more nearly than any other form of government, the democratic form has allowed people to shape their own government. While more important leaders have arisen here and there, still, on the whole, the controls have been in the hands of the majority of the people.

That, it seems to me, is more truly in keeping with the fundamental desires of the people who are groping for something which will give them security from war and from want, and a chance to work out their little happiness.

If these young people are really going to get anywhere, they must realize that inveighing against a thing is all very well, but their future success lies in controlling democracy. Only if democracy makes individuals better able to attain their ideals will it survive the test of today.

What the young people must do is to find out how their government can meet the demands of the people. Find out how business and invention and what we call modern civilization, can bring a greater degree of freedom from fear of any kind, and therefore a greater degree of happiness to the average individual.

Another beautiful day today, and Mrs. Scheider and I are starting to drive from here to my cousin, Mrs. Joseph Alsop's home, at Avon, Conn.

FRIENDLY COUNSEL

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be discussed in this column. Correspondence invited. Your name held in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: All the writers that give advice to the lovers say "Don't talk about yourself." Will you please tell me what is meant by that sentence? E.

Answer: It means just what it says in plain simple English and the implications are about as clear as the statement. If you want to be a big bore, talk about yourself, ram your opinions down other's throats, set yourself up as being superior, give others to understand that when you speak the last word has been said. If you want to be attractive draw the other fellow out, let him tell his middle name, let him demonstrate his cleverness and he will be flattered beyond measure. If you make him think well of himself, he will think well of you. The fellow on whom the trick is worked never recognizes it. He bites every time.

It's true that we all find ourselves the most interesting topic of thought and conversation but good manners forbids us to indulge in orgies of egotism. Most of us value our opinions more highly than we value the opinions of others but common sense bids us remember that the case is the same with every human being. Most of us see ourselves through the big end of the telescope and other people through the little end, yet if we are clever we don't forget that everybody has a telescope. To be an acceptable companion we have to make the other fellow see himself bigger, not smaller. This is the game.

The boys, old and young, are pretty dependent upon the good opinion of their best gals and their wives. Every mother's son of them wants a gal to look up to him, assure him that he's big and important. He simply can't do his best work or be successful in life unless he has his assurance. He keeps casting around until he finds the female that will make him feel like the cock of the walk. Then he mounts his fence and crows like nobody's business. So it comes to pass that when a girl wants to catch a beau, when she wants to marry that beau, when she wants to please her husband and keep him satisfied with her, in every instance the clever thing for her to do is to cater to his pride, inflate his ego, make him feel that she thinks he's swell. She can't do this by talking about herself, impressing him with her smartness and her superiority. She does it by talking about him, inducing him

BEAUTY, ACCORDING TO YOU!

(Posed by Frances Dee)

An Excellent "Pick-Up" Treatment—A Bracing and Refreshing Facial

By LILLIAN MAE.

A luscious pink cream that clears the skin of impurities, keeping it youthfully radiant. That, in a few words, is a description of a cream mask which will really work wonders if used properly and regularly.

Do you, like I, seldom have time for a professional facial? Then get a jar of this cream mask. Thoroughly cleanse the neck and face, apply a generous layer of the cream and if possible, relax for 15 or 20 minutes while it is seeping into the pores. It will not smart, but you will be conscious of a feeling that the tired or flabby muscles are being lifted and the pores contracted.

After the mask has become thoroughly dried and your rest period is over, remove with tepid water and see what a miracle of blooming freshness your complexion has become—clear, firm and smooth.

Use the cream about three times a week at first, and then whenever you feel the need of facial "rejuvenation." You'll find that for the price of one good professional facial, you'll get a jar containing ever so many of these pick-up treatments.

The delicate perfume—which adds to the enjoyment of using the mask—is to me, that of rose geranium.

If you wish to know the name of this cream mask and where it may be purchased, phone Lillian Mae at The Constitution. If you do not live in Atlanta, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

Kittens Make Light of Chores

Household Arts by Alice Brooks. One For Each Day in the Week. PATTERN 5579.

It's a "mad scramble" when seven kittens take over the kitchen, they're brought to order in a set of tea towels that make amusing needlework. Simple cross stitch with just a touch of outline stitch brings these motifs to life. You'll want a set of these for your own town rack, or make some to have on hand for a bride's shower house-warming, or to sell at the coming summer fair. In pattern 5579 you will find a transfer pattern of seven motifs averaging 5x8 inches (one for each day of the week); color suggestions; illustrations of all stitches used; material requirements.

To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Household Arts Department, The Constitution, Atlanta, Ga. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and pattern number.

Hollywood Today

By SHEILAH GRAHAM.

HOLLYWOOD, April 27.—Fred Astaire has refused to renew his radio contract, and at the end of the present term will go to Europe for a long rest at Sister Adele's (Lady Cavendish) Irish castle. . . . The way Simone Simon and Willie Wyler are gazing into each other's eyes you would think they were in love with each other. Maybe they are. . . . When Gary Cooper appeared in "The Winning of Barbara Worth" for Sam Goldwyn 10 years ago, he was offered an $85-a-week contract. A friend advised him to refuse what seemed then a princely salary. It cost Sam $5,000 a week to get Gary back on the Goldwyn payroll.

A word of warning to a famous English actor with a wife in England. Do you know that the pretty model you have been escorting since your return from abroad has a very much-alive husband in New York who is said to be planning a suit for the alienation of his wife's affections? . . . Marc Connelly arrives any day now for a movie writing chore. . . . There are rumors that the Powell-Harlow romance has hit the rocks, but they have been saying this for a long time now.

"I Met Him in Paris," in which Claudette Colbert is starred, was budgeted at $750,000 and has already cost Paramount double that sum. . . . Interstudio politics. Robert Benchley, who works for the "shorts" department at M-G-M, was borrowed for two weeks for M-G-M's full length picture, "Broadway Melody of 1937," to enact the part of a producer. Bob finished his assignment in one day, but then he stopped the "shorts" department from collecting the full two weeks' salary. This is as complicated as Mr. Benchley's forthcoming short, "How to Figure Income Tax."

Extremely encouraging to would-be screen actors are those photographs of Clark Gable as a hop picker, published in connection with the government case against Violet Wells Norton, who asserts that Gable is the father of her 14-year-old child. Anything less like a future film star is difficult to imagine. . . . While the subject of Clark Gable and his companion, Carole Lombard, at the preview of "A Star Is Born," the technician describes the fall of an old star and the rise of the new. They laughed uproariously, and at the end Gable said, "It's a swell picture," but they were both rather pensive as they left the theater, reflecting, no doubt, on the brief span of screen life allotted the average star.

Have the Gene Markeses (Joan Bennett) separated? On two occasions last week, this writer saw Markes dining alone or with a male friend. . . . George Raft lacerated his right ear while indulging in his latest hobby, cracking a bull whip. . . . Deanna Durbin is insured by Universal studios for $1,000,000. . . . Ginger Rogers is credited with purchasing the largest mattress ever made by a Pasadena factory. It's for the new bed in her new house.

Pleasant Homes

By ELIZABETH McRAE BOYKIN.

PHILOSOPHY FOR GARDENS.

Stone lanterns and miniature trees are a part of every Japanese garden.

We came back from our visit to Japan with a new philosophy about gardens, and ever so many ideas tucked away to try out ourselves. The garden of a Japanese home is as much a part of the house as are the actual rooms. In fact the house proper winds in and around several small gardens and the walls of the house slide back so that in fine weather the rooms flow right into the garden. Imagine that in cherry blossom time, because of course every Japanese garden cherishes a cherry tree if possible. And a cobweb! The Japanese see delicate beauty in a cobweb and point it out with pride.

EVERYTHING IN MINIATURE.

Their gardens are tiny because space is so limited, but it's a rare house that doesn't have at least one garden, and usually there are several.

There is seldom grass, but sometimes moss—more often simply bare earth kept sprinkled to dampness. And there are always several large rocks and boulders kept scrubbed till they glisten, and always miniature trees carefully trained in twisted graceful shapes. These little trees give the illusion of a larger garden than is really there. Running water in the form of a little artificial waterfall or fountain you will nearly always see in a Japanese garden by contrast to the still, tranquil pool of the Chinese garden.

LOVELY LANTERNS.

Stone lanterns are perfectly enchanting accents . . . they stand in the parks in whole battalions to illuminate a path or a pavilion, but in a private home just one or two blink their welcome. In festive season the paper lanterns are seen; but we made the mistake of thinking they could be picked up any old time. So instead of buying ours when the stores were blossoming with them, we waited till we were ready to sail for home, then alas, we hunted all over Tokyo before we found a shop keeper who could go to his warehouse and unpack his holiday cases of lanterns.

When there is enough space, the waterfall or fountain in the Japanese garden will end in a pool filled with lotus blossoms, goldfish or sometimes with turtles that cart very giddily considering that they are turtles.

Your Figure, Madam

By IDA JEAN KAIN

WORK NOT ALWAYS EXERCISE.

It's not manual labor, it's muscular exercise that slims the figure. The dancer uses more calories than the laundress, and—moreover—she uses the figure-controlling muscles!

Tipping the light fantastic takes a fantastic number of calories! The dancer uses from 350 to 450 calories per hour, depending on the type of dancing she does, while the laundress, engaged in light work, uses only 143 calories per hour. At the most, a laundress weighing 130 pounds would not require more than 2,800 calories per day.

Dancers sometimes work on their routines for eight hours a day. Allowing time out for rest, the dancer who practices a routine all day can easily burn 4,000 calories. No wonder Ginger Rogers loses 13 pounds in the making of a picture, in spite of drinking milk and eating heartily to keep her weight up. Look at the other dancers—Eleanor Powell, Jessie Matthews, Fred Astaire, Ray Bolger, Buddy Ebsen. All are slim to the point of thinness, for they dance off the calories.

Housework is work, and we'd never say it isn't, but it takes comparatively few calories, and as far as your figure is concerned it uses the wrong muscles. Dishwashing takes only 117 calories per hour. Sweeping at the rate of 40 strokes per minute requires 132 calories per hour. The dreadful task of the family mending uses only 90 calories per hour! Knitting, which is usually regarded as a pleasure, also takes 90 calories per hour if you knit at the rate of 23 stitches per minute. Ironing, conceded to be hard work, uses 114 calories per hour.

Worse still, housework concentrates on the muscles of the hands, arms and lower legs, so that the calorie surplus is stored around the waistline and hips.

The office worker fares no better. In fact, she probably uses the same muscles as the housewife, but to an even less extent. The calorie requirement averages about the same. Typing takes 110 calories per hour. Most tasks at which you sit require around 100 calories per hour.

For both the housewife and the office worker, the solution is to make a hobby of some activity that uses the trunk and hip muscles. Swimming is excellent. It puts all the muscles to work, especially those of the abdomen, hips and shoulders, and burns around 400 calories per hour. There is no better exercise.

Walking also exercises the important muscles. If you walk briskly, at the rate of 3.75 miles per hour, walking burns 235 calories. Dancing the waltz takes 182 calories and the foxtrot 220 calories. The daily dozen comes under the head of vigorous exercise and uses 350 calories per hour. See to it that your calisthenics are directed to the figure-controlling muscles.

As a rule your weight tendencies are set by the type of work you do. This does not always hold true, as in the case of the nervous individual who not only fails to as-

A STAR IS BORN

By WILLIAM A. WELLMAN—AND ROBERT CARSON

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE. To Esther Blodgett, pretty North Dakota girl, Hollywood has represented the land of hope for years. Despite the giving of her family, she enlists the help of her kindly grandmother, gets the money, and leaves home early one morning to go to the city of her dreams. Her first day in Hollywood brings her the thrill of a glimpse of her screen idol, Norman Maine. But passing weeks without work are beginning to destroy her hopes. Returning to her rooming house discouraged, she meets genial, kindly Danny McGuire, out-of-work assistant director. After an evening of fun and laughter in a cheap cabaret, they are fast friends. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT VI

She was so excited that the full import of these statements escaped her. Another girl, he reflected, would have caught on immediately, but not Esther with her set notion that a movie job would come to her on a silver platter. Someone else would have been pleased with anything that would help pay the rent while she waited around. It was going to be heart-breaking to spring the truth on her, especially now that she was going on about makeup and pleading with Danny to help her to select what she needed. There was no escape, though; best to take the bull by the horns.

"Well, you see," he said, miserably aware that his surprise had turned into a boomerang, "it's not really a movie job at all. It's—it's to be a waitress."

"Oh!" It was pitiful to watch the disappointment erasing the excited flush from her face. She stood biting her lip, controlling herself while Danny struggled desperately to explain the good features of the job and make it sound desirable.

"Well, it is kind of a movie job, in a way, if you look at it right," it sounded weak and he was not even convincing himself. Esther asked in a voice that had gone dead. "As a waitress?" Esther asked eagerly. "It's waitress for Casey Burke, the big director. You see, he's throwing a party tonight to celebrate on account of finishing the picture and he told me to get an extra waitress. It's five bucks! And I thought of you right away, Esther."

"That's terribly sweet, Danny," she was talking mechanically, trying hard not to offend Danny. He could be so miserably stupid about things and she did not want to hurt him.

"There'll be a lot of people at Burke's house tonight," he continued, "a lot of big people. I'll bet you there'll be any number of big directors. And if you're there, why maybe they'll notice you."

"I could make them notice me," Her hopes took a sudden rise as Danny bombarded her with a rapid-fire list of every big-wig in the industry, telling her likes and dislikes and how best to approach each one.

"Sure you could make them notice you," he concluded. "It's a cinch, Esther, that this is your chance."

"My chance!" she echoed. "All right! I'll do it." She saw herself sailing gracefully into the room. All eyes would be turned on her and several big directors would be plaguing the host to know who that ravishing girl was and why they had never seen her before. But the practical Esther broke into this imaginative scene.

"Oh! Danny," she wailed. "I completely forgot, I haven't the right things to wear."

Danny unrolled the brown package that he had been hiding. "The wardrobe department isn't next to my office for nothing," he said with a wink.

He placed a waitress' cap on her head and held a maid's uniform against her. Then he surveyed the transformed Esther.

"A perfect fit!" he exclaimed triumphantly.

The two of them danced about the room, whirling madly until Esther, all out of breath, collapsed into a chair. Danny attempted a courtly bow and assumed the pompous air of a successful film magnate used to having his way.

"Thank you so much," he said, clearing his throat. "Now may I ask, La Blodgett, where you have been hiding all this time?"

"Why I've been around, sir," she played up to him. "But Mr. McGuire, the great director, has been keeping me under cover until the public is ready for my type of genius."

"If you will do me the honor of hoofing it over to my office tomorrow, I'd be pleased to offer you twice—no, make it 20 times—what McGuire is giving you."

They were in high spirits when it was time to get ready for the Burke celebration, and they went off together. Danny as a guest, Esther as an extra waitress who was to capture the attention of an important director.

In the pantry, Esther was given her instructions. She was to follow the butler when he served the drinks, and she was to see to the dishes afterwards. She made a hurried journey to the Recreation Room where the guests were to gather, and she gasped in delight and awe at what she witnessed. This was the first time in her life that she had actually had access to such a tremendous and imposing apartment. Subjecting their gowns to her frank stare. She listened in shamelessly on their conversation and heard one group discussing the picture whose completion was being celebrated here tonight. It was so bad as their sophisticated banter indicated. Casey Burke had little enough cause to celebrate.

Soon it was time to make her first appearance with the butler, who gave her a tray of hors d'oeuvres which she was to offer to each guest in turn who accepted one of his cocktails. Esther prepared herself as elaborately as if she were about to face the most critical of theater audiences in a difficult role. At all costs she was going to get herself noticed.

Two men relieved the butler's tray of Martinis. Esther made for them.

"Do you thank you want some off dese?" she inquired in the deep, tragic tones of Greta Garbo. One of the men murmured an almost inaudible thanks, the other took a canapée from the tray with as much as rewarding Esther with a glance. Well, that hadn't worked. But the next one was her prize.

She spotted an important-looking individual who must surely be a director; he was standing alone and would have no excuse for not looking into her face. The tragic pose was dropped and Esther became an animated girl. Her face took on the flaring-nostrilled, arrogant look of Katharine Hepburn. She swooped down on her quarry.

"Christopher Columbus!" she burst out, pausing to display all her teeth. "Dig in, why don't you?"

Worse than ignoring her, the man seemed positively perturbed with fright, and he refused with a vigorous shake of the head, too terrified to speak. He was relieved when she went off to give Simone Simon to another group, but he continued gazing after her with horrified amazement.

Discouraged by the dismal failure of her efforts, she returned to the pantry. Meanwhile the host, Casey Burke, was going from group to group and stopping at each one to put in a pleasant word or two.

Casey Burke was as perfect a host as he was a brilliant director. The man was really phenomenal on the lot. He would turn over a script, bludgeoning the writers' corps into transforming an airy trifle into an epic. He could halt a player's indifferent performance and by sheer power of personality turn it into an exhibition that elicited critical raves. All he asked was sincerity and cooperation. Any actor who gave heed to his tutelage was likely to wake up one morning and find himself famous.

As he reached the bar, the director was seized by Oliver Niles, who drew him aside.

"How about a quiet bit of gab?" Niles invited. "The celebration of an achievement completed calls for a toast to things to come. They took up drinks and retired to a couch in a secluded corner. Burke sensed what was coming. Niles was making a bid for his services; the script was nearing completion; the direction needed the master's touch.

"This is sure-fire stuff, Casey. You know, 'The Enchanted Hour' panicked them on Broadway. We nabbed the screen rights for a fee that sent Winchell hot-footing it to the nearest microphone. It'll be sensational."

"With Maine of course," Burke frowned.

"Sure. Norman is still tops. The public cries loud for him. Between the two of you history will be made."

CHILDREN OF TIMES GONE BY

III—In Colonial Days.

"He that learns these Letters fair, shall have a Coach to take the air."

Those words were printed in tie "New England Primer," a textbook used in English colonies two centuries ago. This little book was only one-third or one-fourth the size of an average textbook in schools of today. It did not contain many pages, and did not teach a great deal, but it was one of the leading books in schools in those days.

Marble games were played in colonial times, as they are today. Children also played hopscotch, and took part in ball games. Their ball games, however, were very different from modern baseball.

Boys in rich or well-to-do families were dressed in a way which would seem very "fancy" today. Here is a list of clothing ordered for an 11-year-old New England boy:

"Eleven new shirts, four pairs of lace sleeves, four striped waistcoats, one flowered waistcoat, two pairs of blue stockings, one pair of red stockings, two speckled handkerchiefs, three pairs of gloves, four new osinbrigh britches, three pairs of gold buttons, and one stuff-coat with black buttons."

A 12-year-old Boston school girl told about her costume in this manner: "I was dressed in my yellow coat, black bib and apron, black feathers on my head... together with my silver plume... my locket, black mitts, two or three yards of blue ribbon, striped tucker and ruffles. My silk shoes completed my dress."

Colonial child at play.

In the "New England Primer" were pictures to teach children the letters of the alphabet, an owl for the letter "O," a robin for "R," and egg for "E," and so on.

There were verses which seem simple to us, for instance, "The Moon gives light in Time of Night." It was the usual custom to place a capital letter at the beginning of a common noun, the same as for a proper noun.

The promise of a coach "to take the air" reminds us of the fact that in those days a coach, pulled by horses, was an important means of transport. There were no railroads and no automobiles. Roads were poor, and travel was slow. A stagecoach might travel a hundred miles in three days—if it did not get stuck in the mud along the way!

Some children went to school, but many never were taught to read or write. Boys and girls were expected to help around the house, or on the farm. In cities and towns the boys were likely to be placed at an early age under the charge of some man to learn a trade. After years as an "apprentice," they could work for regular wages.

Chatham, Mailho Get Most Cheers

Grace's Two Homers Enable Chicks To Even Series, 8 to 5

The Ladies Like Baseball --- and Brave a Cold Afternoon --- at Ponce de Leon Park

Yesterday was the first "Ladies' Day" at Ponce de Leon park and despite the cold weather a large crowd of feminine fans were out to see the Crackers play Memphis—and lose. A Constitution cameraman photographed a few of the fair

lent box score. Next are Ann and Mrs. M. S. De Vaughn and Joan Gossett. They are having a grand time. At the right are the Misses Margaret and Frances Wade, who think the Crackers are a great ball club. The poll showed Buster Chatham and Emil Mailho to be the two most popular players with the feminine fans present yesterday. But all of our brave lads were well received. Tuesday and Friday are "Ladies' Days" and they are admitted free.

Grace's Two Homers Beat Crackers, 8 to 5

Ralph West Walks 10 Chicks; Lou Garland Faces Keith Frazier This Afternoon.

By JACK TROY.

It was a case of being saved by Grace for those Memphis Chicks as they defeated the Crackers, 8 to 5, and evened the series yesterday at Ponce de Leon park.

Joe Grace, the portside powerhouse and Cracker nemesis, walloped two long home runs off the pitching of Ralph West to do the major part of the offensive damage.

The game was tied up, 3-3, when Grace hit his first homer in the sixth with Jack Calvey on base. There were two men out at the time.

The scoreboard also registered two outs in the eighth when Grace hit his next homer, a line smash which hit the bottom of the green fence along the railroad tracks in right. The bases were empty.

GRACE STARTS RALLY.
Grace started a rally which produced two more runs before the inning was over. Coker Triplett beat out a hit to the pitcher and Poco Taitt scored him with a double. Then Andy Reese drove Taitt home with a single.

The Chicks scored in the first inning when Grace singled, Triplett walked and Taitt singled, scoring Grace, who was to cross home plate four times before the game ended.

The Crackers evened it up their half. Luby lined to short center and, by dint of daring base running, turned the blow into a double. After Marshall Mauldin skied to Grace, Mailho doubled to right, scoring Luby.

The uprising Chickasaws took the lead again in the third, scoring two runs with the aid of two errors. After Calvey grounded out, Grace was safe on Luby's bobbie. Triplett singled to right and took second when Mailho let the ball get by. Grace held third. Taitt tied to deep right and Grace scored after the catch. Reese's single scored Triplett.

TIED IN FOURTH.
The game began to take on the aspects of the opener when the Crackers tied it up in the fourth. Paul Richards, the demon first baseman, singled. Up came Joe Huteson and tripled to right. Jim Galvin fled to center. Richards tagged up to center.

The Crackers scored their fourth up in the eighth when Luby singled and raced home on Mailho's second double.

And there was a minor rally in the ninth. With one man out, Luby beat out an infield hit, went to second on Buster Chatham's infield out, took third on the windup and scored on pinch-hitter Alex Hooks' single to right. Luby sounded out to end the game.

Napoleon Rucker was attempting to stoke his pipe enough to produce enough heat to keep warm with out at Ponce de Leon park yesterday.

There were more goose bumps than base hits. And the saddest looking people present were the cold drink boys whose shouts of "Cold Drinks" seem to ride down the wintry blasts like a mockery.

"See where Detroit bought Babe Herman," said someone. "He was," said Nap Rucker, "the only hitter I ever saw with a real follow through. And he demonstrated that very effectively."

"No matter how hard he hit a ball or where, it never curved. It went on a straight line. He could do the strangest things. You never could tell about the Babe."

Herman, who once played with the Crackers, was at his peak when the late Wilbert Robinson was managing the Brooklyn club. It was of Herman that Westbrook Pegler wrote: "He learned to catch fly balls in self-defense."

Herman, a first baseman when he came to the Crackers, was converted into an outfielder. He once was hit on the head by a fly ball he lost in the sun, thus leading to Pegler's bon mot.

Harry Salsinger, of the Detroit News, recalls two of the favorite Herman stories. They are:

"There was that time in Pittsburgh two years ago. The Pirates had secured Floyd Caves Herman in a trade with Chicago. It was the day before the season opened and Herman's trunk had just arrived from his home in California. He was unpacking, throwing things here and there, while three of his new teammates were standing around taking mental inventory of the Herman wardrobe. When he came to the bottom of the trunk he paused suddenly, gazed intently, came to an upright position, and exclaimed:

"There it is!"

"What is?" asked one of the three witnesses.

"Reaching into the bottom of the trunk Herman pulled out a slip of bonded paper and held it up for inspection.

"It was a check for $1,400 from the Chicago Cubs, Herman's last salary payment of the previous year.

"And all winter long my wife's been yelling about me holding out on her," he announced as he folded the check and shoved it into a trouser pocket.

"On day a salesman knocked on the door of the Herman home in California, interrupting the Babe in a study of batting averages for the preceding season. Disturbed over the interruption, the Babe himself went to the door. He was confronted by a salesman.

"Have you an encyclopedia in your home?" asked the salesman.

"A what?" inquired the Babe.

"An encyclopedia."

"Naw, I guess we ain't got none."

"Have you any children here?"

"Yeah, we got some."

Durham Ill, Feared Indefinitely Lost

Hurler Has Been Ailing Since Training Camp Period; X-Rays Are Taken.

By JACK TROY.

Indefinite loss of Bobby Durham, the chunky right-hander who won 17 games for the Crackers last season, was seen yesterday when illness made it necessary for him to visit the club physician for an examination.

X-ray pictures were made of Durham's teeth and chest.

It was revealed yesterday that Durham has been ailing ever since the Crackers returned from Panama City. He kept his illness quiet, hoping daily that his condition would improve.

However, he told Manager Moore yesterday that he was feeling too bad to pitch. He was sent to see the club doctor.

It was said that he may have a slight touch of neuritis, for he has been having pains in his arms and through the chest. An X-ray was made of his teeth to see if they are causing any of his trouble.

A thorough report is expected

Cards Beat Pirates, 3 to 1, To Take National League Lead

LOSS IS FIRST FOR BUCANEERS IN FIVE STARTS

All Other Major League Games Are Rained Out.

ST. LOUIS, April 27.—(AP)—Lefty Bob Weiland held the Pittsburgh Pirates to six hits today as the St. Louis Cardinals won, 3 to 1, and may have assured himself a regular berth with the Gashouse Gang.

The victory lifted the Cardinals into first place. It was the first defeat of the season for the ram-paging Pirates.

John Dickshot, Pirate left fielder, accounted for Pittsburgh's run with a homer in the first inning. Manager Frankie Frisch was watching Weiland closely for, with a capable southpaw, the Cardinals' pitching problem would be less acute. Weiland was with Rochester, a Cardinal farm, last year.

After Pittsburgh took the lead in the first inning the Cards tied the score in the second on singles by Joe Medwick and Pepper Martin and an error by Bill Brubaker.

The Gas House Gang added another in the fourth, Leo Durocher's fly to Paul Waner scoring Stan Bordagaray, who had singled to start the inning and advanced to third on Medwick's double.

The Cardinals' final run came in the fifth. Weiland singled to start the inning but was forced at second by Terry Moore's attempted sacrifice bunt. The outfielder then stole second and scored on Stump's Martin's single.

Cy Blanton gave up seven hits in the six innings he pitched. He was taken out for a pinch hitter in the seventh and Bill Swift finished the game.

JACKETS MEET AUBURN FRIDAY

BIRMINGHAM, April 27.—(AP) Auburn plays Georgia Tech here Friday and Saturday, winding up its Southeastern conference activities. The Tigers hold the conference lead, having won seven and lost none. Mississippi State has won four and lost none.

The Tigers visited in Florida last week, and trimmed the University of Florida twice. They start this week's series with Tech one up on the visitors. One of the two-game series played in Atlanta was rained out, but Auburn won the other, 3 to 2.

Burford Is Winner Over Dundee, 10-0

JOINER PITCHES BARONS TO WIN

By UNITED PRESS.

The Southern Association shook down Tuesday to anybody's race with the sensational Little Rock Pebs setting the pace and the Birmingham Barons knocking Nashville out of the runner-up spot.

Little Rock, relegated anywhere from fourth to last place two weeks ago, smashed Chattanooga, 3 to 1, behind the three-hit pitching of Dickman—one of the finest mound performances turned in during the young season.

The Lookouts opened the scoring in the first to send in the lone marker. But from that point on, the Peb hurler was invincible, holding Chattanooga scoreless. Jess Petticoles and Hayes, of the Lookouts, gave up only six hits, but the Pebs turned them into a pair of scores in the fifth and one more in the final stanza.

Roy Joiner held the Vols from Nashville to four hits as he shut them out to give Birmingham a 3-0 decision. Capitalizing on the breaks, the last-place Barons turned the five hits collected off Johnson into single scores in the second, fourth and eighth to put the game on ice.

New Orleans' Pelicans showed a sudden fondness for left-handers last night, pouncing on two Knoxville porters for 14 blows and a 10-0 victory. Tom Drake pitched masterfully for the winners, giving the Smokies only four safeties. It was his second such victory.

PACKARD LOST FOR TECH MEET HERE SATURDAY

Georgia Star Not To Run Against Jackets; Towns Ready.

ATHENS, Ga., April 27.—Limping from the effects of a pulled leg muscle, Bobby Packard, Georgia's sprint ace, is given but slight chance of being ready for the meet with Tech in Atlanta Saturday.

The compactly-built star is likely to be fully recuperated in time for the Clemson meet at Clemson, S. C., on May 8. He was injured in the first heat of the 100-yard dash at the Penn relay Saturday. He won the heat in 9.8 seconds.

Coach H. J. Stegeman said today he expects the Yellow Jackets to furnish considerably more opposition than was anticipated the first of the season. Since the unbeaten Engineers hold victories over Clemson, Florida, Alabama and Vanderbilt, he said they are truly the surprise team of the spring.

Georgia's squad returned to the practice field this afternoon for a snappy drill. Six of its members were receiving congratulations for a creditable showing in the Penn relay carnival the past week end. Two places were won in the 440 and 880 relays. Maurice Green won first in the discus and Spec Towns came first in the 120 high hurdles.

The feature event of the Tech meet is likely to be the 220-yard low hurdles in which Belcher, of Tech, hopes to hand Towns his first defeat since he became a national figure.

Hartman To Play Against Petrels.

ATHENS, Ga., April 27.—Bill Hartman, Georgia outfielder who has been ailing from a pulled muscle for the past two weeks, was back on the field today and is expected to be ready for action this week end in the Georgia-Oglethorpe baseball series here.

No date has been set for the second game, which was postponed due to rain at Decatur last Saturday. Coach Vernon Smith said Friday's 7-4 loss was due mostly to Archer's 4-hit pitching for the Petrels.

Lanett Bleachery Tops Chattahoochee

With a record of four wins and one loss, the Lanett Bleachery nine is leading the Chattahoochee Valley league and three other teams are tied for second place in the standings.

The Bleachery nine last Wednesday heavily defeated Lanett Mill, a second-place contender, 10-4, and Friday shut out the last-place Langdale outfit, 2-0.

Friday the leaders will face another second-place club, Shawmut, with a record of three wins and two losses. Fairfax, the third contender for second place, will meet Pepperell on the Pepperell diamond.

Black Crackers Lose To Mohawk Giants

The Atlanta Black Crackers lost their first game of the season Tuesday afternoon to the Mohawk Giants, of New York, 8-5. Both clubs played erratic baseball.

Tiny Smith's first home run of the year failed to save the Black Crackers. Thornton was on base when the circuit blow came. The teams met in the final game of the series this afternoon at 4 o'clock on the Clark University athletic field with "Ping" Burke, who struck out 17 Chattanooga batters, on the mound for the locals.

Frick Says Feller Needs Seasoning

BUFFALO, N. Y., April 27.—(AP)—National League President Ford Frick declared today that Boy Wonder Bob Feller, rookie slinger for the Cleveland Indians, needs a lot of coaching and development before he can become a consistent major league winner.

"Bob's still pretty wild and has a jerky delivery which I believe will naturally shorten the life of his arm," Frick told newspapermen.

"One thing he must learn if he's going to last long is to get his body behind his throwing arm."

Burleigh Grimes Is Given $25 Fine

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—Burleigh Grimes, fiery Brooklyn manager, received word today that he had been fined $25 by Ford Frick, National league president, for his run-in with Umpire Tiny Parker at Philadelphia. Grimes' vigorous protests over one of Parker's decisions ended with his being banished from the game.

Colonel Bob Jones New A. A. C. Leader

Bobby's Father Succeeds Scott Hudson Sr., Who Will Hold Newly Created Position.

By ROY WHITE.
Colonel Robert P. Jones, Bobby's father, was elected president of the Atlanta Athletic Club Tuesday night at the annual meeting and election of officers.

Colonel Jones succeeds Scott Hudson Sr., veteran leader, who asked that his name be left off the nomination, due to failing health, after 19 years of service.

Although he was released from active duty in the affairs of the club, the membership would not relinquish its close association with the white-haired president and created a new position, chairman of the board of directors.

Hudson will serve with Henry Heinz, Bobby Jones Jr., Jim Malone and E. A. Thornwell on the newly-elected board. Other members of the directorate will be named at a latter meeting by the five elected Tuesday night.

In accepting the presidency, the greatly admired Colonel Jones said, "This is the most distinguished honor that has ever been bestowed upon me, but an honor that I deeply regret to accept, for Scott Hudson has made this club what it is today and I feel that no man in here can do the job as well as he has done it."

Chairmen of the various standing committees of the club will be appointed by President Jones at an early organizational meeting. Also the members of the various committees will be named at later meetings.

Henry Heinz, a member of the board of directors, and chairman of the nominating committee offered an amendment to the constitution and by-laws, which was unanimously accepted. The new amendment made it possible to elect Hudson as chairman of the board of directors, and received a hearty approval from the membership.

HIGHEST PEAK.
The Atlanta Athletic Club has reached one of its highest peaks in membership with 1,152 on the active list. That is the highest since 1929 and more than double that of 1933.

And it was rumored that the golfing membership, in particular, may have to be limited within the near future. Officials of the club, however, denied the rumor and emphatically stated that so long as the club maintains and operates two golf courses and the country and city clubs, the membership will not be limited.

Every report of the club showed a decided increase over last year and previous years and the club in general appears to be in better financial condition than any time since early 1930.

Hugh Casey, pitcher formerly with Atlanta, was placed on the eligible list in Hannahoe's place. Casey has been troubled with a sore arm.

PURPLES BEAT INDUSTRIAL, 2-0, BEHIND SMITH

Young Bob Allows Three Hits; Lanier and G. M. A. Win.

Boys' High moved into second place in the Big Eight baseball race with a 2-to-0 victory over Columbus Industrial Tuesday afternoon at Piedmont Park. It gave the Purples an even break in the two-game series with the Columbus nine.

Captain Bob Smith, who last Friday upset Tech High for Boys' High's first win over the Smithies in four years, came back with another great game and limited the Industrials to three hits.

Smith struck out 12 batters and, given perfect support by his mates, was never in danger.

Matthews pitched a fine game for Columbus, limiting the Purples to five hits, but permitted them to be bunched in the fifth inning when the two runs were scored. Matthews struck out 10 batters.

In other "Big Eight" games yesterday, Lanier invaded Monroe to vanquish the Aggies, 9-2, with some impressive slugging, and G. M. A. hitters routed Columbus High at Columbus, 18-6, in a comical display of errors in which the two teams collected 25 hits and made 18 errors.

Society Brand SHADOMERE SUITS

These cool Shadomeres have a very decided advantage over ordinary summer suits. The fabric... a high grade two-ply worsted... corresponds in quality, in pattern design, and in colors with the finest regular suitings. Thus Shadomeres, even though they primarily are summer suits, may be worn in comfort in spring as well as in summer. They are skillfully tailored with exacting care and are offered in Society Brand's most distinguished new styles.

Brokers' Views

WILSON & McKINNON—It seems as though Tuesday's rebound in the share market was a technical reaction, a normal sequel to a sharp break, such that of the four immediate preceding sessions.

DEE & CO.—The outlook appears to us to be for some extension of these gains over the next few days.

FENNER & BEANE—It is our opinion that the intermediate downtrend may not yet have been concluded, with a further decline in the next several trading sessions to produce a COTTON OPINIONS.

COURTS & CO.—Considering the volume of tenders, the market acts very

THOMSON & MCKINNON—It is very different under the present conditions to see any definite trend at the moment.

BEER & CO.—Would confine purchases to material recessions.

FENNER & BEANE—Technical conditions are good and the expectation is for recovery to go further.

E. A. PIERCE & CO.—Pressure of liquidation may be materially lessened following large evening-up operations. May Tuesday and under such conditions recovery may carry considerably further.

GRAIN OPINIONS

COURTS & CO.—The Canadian crop conditions now become important and if moisture develops in those areas according to present predictions, the market will probably ease.

THOMSON & MCKINNON—We reiterate our belief that with any measure of stability in surrounding markets wheat may be expected to respond rapidly to the cumulative influence of unfavorable crop conditions, light world supplies and heavy demand which have recently been obscured by the uncertainties of monetary conditions.

BEER & CO.—Some slight deterioration in crop prospects in Texas and parts of Kansas. Nevertheless we think other parts so good that price is high enough.

W. R. & B. B. Bole—Prefer buying side on small recessions in July and September.

COTTONSEED OIL OPINIONS.
HUBBARD BROS. & CO.—There is no indication, some say, that the liquidation has spent its force as yet. Trading has increased again and this is expected to continue with good results.

CRACKERS

because of the injury he sustained sliding back into second at Knoxville, hobbled up to the plate and delivered. Had he been able to run, he conceivably might have made a double out of the blow. For it was well hit in right center.

Manager Billy Southworth tried some strategy in the ninth. He took out Walter Stewart, the veteran southpaw who had pitched consistently good baseball, for a pinch-hitter in the ninth. And in the Crackers' half he called on huge Alton Benton, a right-hander, to face the Cracker right-handers. He got Galvin, Chatham and Luby out, but the left-handers, Hill and Hooks, hit him.

Manager Eddie Moore was put in somewhat of a spot when Bobby Durham, his original choice to pitch, became ill. West, who had been pitching batting practice, both the day before and part of yesterday, was called upon to make his first start.

TOO MUCH GRACE. And although West gave up 10 bases on balls, he might have fared all right except for the extraordinary slugging of Grace. He harkened back to the days of Babe Ruth and Roy Carlyle, that second home run in the eighth. Those two hit homers over the fence before the fence was moved back 60 feet to its present location.

"No one ever hit a ball out of the park as it is today," declared Earl Mann after the game. "But that Grace man didn't miss it far."

CRACKERS GET 10 HITS. Crafty Walter Stewart allowed 10 hits, but he was invincible in the pinches. The Chicks again outthrew the Crackers. They got to West for 11. Grace and Reese got three apiece. Taitt and Triplett secured two each.

Luby, Malibo and West each hit safely twice for the Crackers. Manager Southworth will pitch Keith Fraser, a right-hander, against the Crackers in the third game today.

Manager Eddie Moore has selected Lou Garland to make his second start for the Crackers. In his first start Garland held the Nashville Vols to six hits in Sulphur Dell and lost the game, 4 to 3.

For the first ladies' day of the season there was a paid crowd of 1,274 yesterday. Cracker attendance is excellent.

Brown Undergoes Tonsil Operation

Ben Brown, up-and-coming Atlanta fighter, underwent an operation yesterday for removal of his tonsils. His manager, Sam Sobel, said he would be in a private hospital for two days.

BOBBY DURHAM ON AILING LIST

The Crackers leave for a two-week road trip. Hooks can only bend his knee halfway. He can't run.

The old injury and illness jinx is striking the Crackers early. The two-time champions are seeing the breaks going dead against them.

All of which means tough going to recapture the Southern association lead.

RELEASE SUNDRA

NEW YORK, April 27.—(AP)—The Yankees today announced the release of Pitcher Steve Sundra, a right-hander, to their Newark "farm" team in the International league. Sundra, released on option, was with Newark last season after coming to the Yanks originally in a deal with Cleveland.

BREAK O' DAY

"Then you should, by all means, have an encyclopedia. No child can get along very well in school without one."

"Listen!" announced the Babe. "My kids is all healthy and they can walk to school. We don't need none of them things."

Those are two of the better ones. There was another story about the Babe. He got on the train as the Cubs started a road trip.

"Give me a match," he said to one of the baseball writers.

The writer started fumbling for a match. Herman pulled a half-burned cigar from his coat pocket, put it in his mouth and puffed, experimentally.

"Never mind," he said to the startled writer, "it's lit."

And he walked away, leaving a stunned writer looking after him and the trail of cigar smoke.

THE CRACKERS WILL LEARN.

Rival managers make no secret of the fact they hope to left-hand the Crackers' batting power into ineffectiveness.

"They can't really do it," said Nap Rucker. "They will for a time. But if a club sees enough left-handed pitching it will learn to hit it as well as the right-handed kind."

Joe Hutcheson was up, trying to hit one of Stewart's curves. Hutcheson is one of the reasons why rival managers use southpaw pitchers against the Crackers.

"Hutcheson," said Rucker, "won't start early. He can't. If he is in shape and if he really is trying to come back, he will be three or four weeks getting ready. He'll hit in some runs."

Just as he finished talking, Hutcheson slammed a triple to right field to score Richards and, a moment later, scored himself on a fly to center. This tied the score at three all.

WEST'S DEBUT.

Ralph West's debut wasn't bad. He showed a fine fast one. His control got him into trouble often, but that can be remedied. It was West's first pitching of the season.

No pitcher can have control or be very effective unless he gets regular work. West needs work. He has a world of "stuff" and, given regular work, should become one of the better rookies in the league.

PLAIN MISFORTUNE.

Miss Fortune was present on yesterday. It was a very fitting day for Miss Fortune to be present, it being ladies' day.

Bobby Durham turned up with a misery in his back and shoulders. He couldn't pitch. They took him off to the doctor and he had X-rays made of the round man's teeth. They'll know about that today. At any rate, he'll be out of there for a while.

Bill Beckman was hurt and out for a week. And then Alex Hooks was hurt and will be out for at least a week.

Now comes Durham. The Crackers have had a lot of luck to date. And it has all been bad.

Hamby Fires for Place On International Team

Atlanta Has Chance To Go to England for Pershing Matches.

By RALPH MCGILL.

Charles Hamby, one of the best rifle shots in the world, will leave Atlanta Saturday night for Savannah, where he will fire for a place on the Pershing team.

That honor, one of the greatest a rifle shooter can earn, would take him to England for a month and definitely place him as one of the 10 best shots in the United States.

Hamby will fire a match at Savannah, which is neutral territory, with Bill Summerrall, of Waycross, Ga., also one of the great rifle men in the south.

Only two men are being considered in the southeast and they both are Georgians.

BLONDE IS QUIZZED ON $100,000 GIFTS

Former Follies Beauty Claims 'Contract' Ran for 18 Years.

NEW YORK, April 27.—(UP)—Blonde Betty Randolph, who once danced in the Follies, tonight appeared in a district attorney's office to explain about a $100,000-a-year forget-me-not which she says wealthy Louis Van Lear Bamberger gave her from 1915 to 1933.

She was called in at the request of Bamberger, whom she admitted she has not seen in five years—since he stopped sending her the annual remembrance.

Miss Randolph winked tears from her eyes as she explained, however, that she could never forget Mr. Bamberger—once rated in brokerage circles at $50,000,000—because one day back in 1915 he had told her he could never marry her because his folks would cut him off without a penny.

So, according to Betty, they made a friendly little agreement by which he would pay her $100,000 a year for the rest of her life, so she would always have something to remember him by. She is now suing him in the courts to find out why he quit.

However, her presence in the office of Assistant District Attorney Sullivan had to do with a different phase of the matter. Sullivan, after talking with Bamberger, had uttered some ugly words, such as "extortion" and "shake-down" and issued a request subpoena for Betty to drop around and explain.

"I'm not worried about Mr. Bamberger's charges," blonde Betty said. "If it was extortion, why did he keep it for so long—from 1915 to 1933? Why did he

South Is Dubbed Breeding Ground Of United States

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 27.—(AP)—Standards of living must be raised in the south because the nation looks to this section to replenish its population, Dr. W. W. Alexander, national resettlement administrator, said today.

"The south has become the real breeding ground of the nation," he said in an interview, "and yet we are poorer and least able to educate these children."

He said more than half the farm children of the nation are born in southern states, and for that reason "it is vitally necessary that their living standards be raised above the present level."

Dr. Alexander made an unheralded visit to Montgomery last night to attend a "family party" given by employees of the regional resettlement offices here, and today went to Coffee county to inspect a resettlement project.

A survey by the RA showed, he said, that the average cash income of farm families in the southeastern states is only $226 a year compared with $261 for the nation.

"However," he continued, "the south is doing the best it can with its present income. The southern states are spending a larger percentage of their total income for support of schools than any other section, but our educational advantages, particularly for farm children, are woefully inadequate."

An attractive amnesia victim at the County hospital in Chicago, remembered her name, but only after a nurse had called for bacon and eggs.

"I'm not worried about Mr. Bamberger's charges," blonde Betty said. "If it was extortion, why did he keep it for so long—from 1915 to 1933? Why did he show me with expensive presents?" "That," said Sullivan, waving a sheaf of Bamberger's cancelled checks, "is exactly what I want to know!"

ANTI-TRUST LAWS CHANGE IS URGED

Attorney General Asks Revision To Prevent Monopolistic Practices.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—(AP)—Attorney General Cummings reported to President Roosevelt today the time had come for a revision of the anti-trust laws to prevent monopolistic practices.

The report, read by President Roosevelt at a press conference, also said the Justice Department's investigation of complaints of asserted collusion in bidding on government steel contracts had produced insufficient evidence to warrant action by that department.

Instead, the report raised the question of whether the matter should not be handled at this juncture through cease and desist orders by the Federal Trade Commission.

The report said identical steel bids, complained of about a year ago by Secretary Ickes in connection with public works contracts, were produced in part by the basing point system of price determination.

It said the whole question of the adequacy of the anti-trust laws arose during the study and added the time had come for a restatement of the laws.

It recommended a committee be appointed to study the desirability of amendments to improve enforcement.

Assistant State's Attorney Nash said Montlake testified before a federal grand jury in New York which indicted him and two others on charges of conspiracy to transport $21,000 in bonds seized by the Dillinger desperadoes in a 1933 raid on the American Bank & Trust Company in Racine, Wis.

Detectives cited the possibility that it was a gangland "silence" who stalked the 40-year-old victim across a vacant lot on the seashore South Shore last night and fired nine bullets into his body as

Child Bride, 14, Asks Annulment

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., April 27.—(AP)—Elnor O. Magen Garcia, 14, who married Emanuel Garcia, 22, last August, asked the circuit court here to grant her an annulment.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Grace B. Cochran, filed the suit yesterday in behalf of her daughter. The petition said the girl left her husband soon after the marriage in Flagler county.

SLAYING IS LINKED TO GANG REVENGE

Chicagoan Was Witness in Handling of Dillinger Loot.

CHICAGO, April 27.—(AP)—The theory that the slaying of Albert Montlake stemmed from the handling of the loot of John Dillinger's gang was advanced by investigators tonight.

Assistant State's Attorney Nash said Montlake testified before a federal grand jury in New York which indicted him and two others on charges of conspiracy to transport $21,000 in bonds seized by the Dillinger desperadoes in a 1933 raid on the American Bank & Trust Company in Racine, Wis.

Detectives cited the possibility that it was a gangland "silence" who stalked the 40-year-old victim across a vacant lot on the seashore South Shore last night and fired nine bullets into his body as

Can't get around it... "It's Buick again!"

EVERY flock has to have its leader—and you'll find plenty of proof on the road this summer that Buick's the pace-maker of this year's crop of cars.

So if you'd rather lead the way than follow, you'll take the wise step now, and make sure that when summer comes you're up front in the driver's seat of a Buick.

There's no getting around the power a Buick can pour into the job of getting you there quick and quiet and easy—its valve-in-head straight-eight engine gives you the soaring flight of an eagle when you take to cover ground.

It's got a steady, fretless, road-leveling gait that makes travel effortless as light chasing shadow, whether you're just loafing along or shooting for a record distance for the day.

In this marvel car you ride in seats like easy chairs. You finger controls that seem to sense your next wish in advance. You've got safe brakes to halt its thunderbolt action and bring it gently down to rest with the smooth lightness of misting rain.

You've got a car that's a young man's fancy, light-footed, eager, adventurous—a car that's any man's pride so honest is it in the solid worth of every nut, strut, bolt and thread.

Why handicap yourself this summer when so plainly it's Buick again for value? You'll find this great straight eight easy to buy as the average run of sixes—and if you get your order in now you'll be leading the parade in a bell-wether Buick when summer gets here.

NO OTHER CAR IN THE WORLD HAS ALL THESE FEATURES

VALVE-IN-HEAD STRAIGHT-EIGHT ENGINE gives more power per unit of fuel than any other type of engine of equal displacement and compression

ANOLITE PISTONS, durable, long-lasting, 50% lighter, increase bearing life 150%

AEROBAT CARBURETOR—works like carburetors used in aerial acrobatics. No stop, start or swing is swift enough to affect its even feed of fuel.

SEALED CHASSIS keeps dirt and water from all moving parts, protects from wear and erosion

TORQUE-TUBE DRIVE, for steadier, more stable roadability

UNISTEEL BODY BY FISHER with solid steel Turret Top and No Draft Ventilation. The most complete steel protection ever offered

TIPTOE HYDRAULIC BRAKES, giving safe, straight-line stops under lightest pressures

KNEE-ACTION COMFORT AND SAFETY, the true gliding ride

"HIGH OUTPUT" GENERATOR—supplies ample current for radios, heaters, defrosters, etc.

JUMBO LUGGAGE COMPARTMENTS, with more room than ever before

DOUBLE STABILIZATION—front and rear—for a smoother ride and elimination of tire squeal and sidesway on curves

SAFETY GLASS, standard equipment throughout at no extra cost

LOWEST PRICE EVER ON A BUICK 4-DOOR SEDAN!

The beautifully big, buoyantly able Buick SPECIAL 4-door sedan today delivers at a price almost as low as the average for six-cylinder four-door sedans outside the lowest price field. Compare delivered prices and discover how very little more Buick's straight-eight smoothness, valve-in-head thrills, 100-horsepower mobility and immeasurably greater performance, comfort and style!
